MY MANDOLIN.

BY WINIFRED D'ESTCOURTE SACKVILLE-STONER

It rains, and the complaining wind Sighs dismally without, And melancholy thoughts my mind Becloud and fill with doubt Becloud and fill with doubt
Within, without a threatening night:
"Tis then I seek my mandolin,
To dissipate the clouds within.
To put my gloomy thoughts to flight.

My attic room, so small and bare, Grows large and spacious quite, The walls adorned with paintings rare And tapestries most bright, Created by the magic spell Of sweetest tuneful witchery That far beyond the restless sea Bears me to scenes I love so well.

Now tender tones of love arise In melody divine;
The love that thrives 'neath sunny skies, The land of wintry wind and snow-Where men strive most for yellow gold.
And everything is bought and sold, And blood flows sluggishly and slow

Then brighter, quicker moves the strain, As if fair maidens gay Sang joyously some bright refrain And danced their merry lay, As only Southern maidens dance, With gay abandon, careless grace— With laughter rippling every face, And witchery in every glance.

Again the merry music done, I hear the sound of day-The heavy carts that one by one Pusue their grumbling way, And footsteps hastening to the mart And where the greed for gold makes cold The warmest impulse of the neart.

"L'AIGLON," (THE EAGLET.)

Drana, in six acts, written in verse, by Edmond Rostand. Translated and adapted from The Theatre BY CLARA ASHMEAD.

With the first representation of "L'Algon" something unusual was added to the history of the French theatre. It was a triumph for the poet, Rostand, and for his interpreter, Sarah Bernhardt. Twenty recalls scarcely satisfied the enthusiasm of the audience, who were desirous of seeing the author before the footlights. One might have thought that the great days of "Hernani" had once again returned. It was, in reality, because "L'Aiglon" brings a new note to the stage. It was undoubtedly and generally admitted that it is a romantic drama. But, neither in its conception nor in its form does it exactly re semble any other romantic drama, not even excepting "Cyrano de Bergerac." The work is of the composite order, which diversifies it, and permits one to affirm that the prodigious success of the first representations will con-tinue for a lengthy period, as each specta-tor, without the least effort, will find pleas-ure from its marvelous expansiveness. Those who rank beauty of effect and the minute necessary to a perfect representation will be amply satisfied with the scenery and superb costumes, both picturesque and rig-orously exact. This drama embraces a series of magnificent scenes, which are animated by a living plot. Those of reflective thought will pause before the touching por-trayal of the mind of the Duke de Reich stadt haunted by the memories of paternal glory, yet hesitating before action, fearing himself inferior to the tasks it had imposed upon him, and dismayed at his puerile weakness in comparison with his sire's great So well is all this delineated that one can justly state that in him is embodied the physiology of a French Hamlet.

There are those who will take pleasure in the exploition of an historical epoch and episode which, although not ren is yet veiled through some mystery. will admire the pictures of Emperor Franz who was not without kindness nor loftiness: of purpose in the melancholy years of his old age. They will turn with interest to the inconsistent, frivolous Marie Louise, and to the Prince de Metternich, that cunning poli-tician, whose hatred for France and the Revolution reached to the point of genius Neither is love absent from the work. It is depicted to us in the most diversified forms the almost unavowed, in that of the Arch the almost unavowed, in that of the Archduchess of Austria; the gracious, naive passion finds an exponent in Fanny Ellsler, the dancer. The romantic, adventurous sentiments are embodied in the personality of the Countess Camerata, the perfect type of an amason; and lastly, one meets with the melancholy, timid symbol of love in Theresa, the reader, the one known as the "Petite Source," owing to the soft sounds of her voice, and who is the Ophelia to the sugsestiveness of Hamlet in de Reichstadt's melancholy. The spectators will also be charmed with the drama of adventure which is unrolled about the popular character of the Grenadier Flambeau, who, in a remote, but distinctive, manner recalls some of the amusing and picturesque heroes of Dumas. Finally, there are some who will be espe-cially moved by the tableau of the battle field of Warram. The profound originality cially moved by the tableau of the battle field of Wagram. The profound originality of the dramatic genius of the poet seems to have harmoniously blended every elevent of interest in one single work, wherein each ex-pands under a captivating guise; the lyrical pands under a captivating guise; the lyrical form is at times apparent, then the ear is impressed with the tragic, unconstrained volume of the lines. One finds also that subtle element of a keen intelligence, and tempts were made to carry him off and change the course of history.

One of those attempts is touched upon by Rostand. The leading spirit of the conspiracy is the Countess Camerata, cousin of the Duke de Reichstadt, whom she resembled. Endowed with audacity and manly courage, she gains admittance to Schoenbrunn, in the disguise of a milliner, chosing that character as a sure means of being received by Marie Louise, who has sighed for those trifles that are so cunningly fashioned by the people of France. The countess is accompanied by a tailor, who offers his services to the Duke de Reichstadt. This tailor is none other ready cognisant of the truth, as he has concealed some books beneath the canopy of his bed, and sleeps under this "dome of history," his nights being agitated by the dreams of glory that descend from it. So when his professors speak but of the treaty of peace that has been concluded with Austria, the duke completes the lesson, and tells them in magnificent language of Austerlits and Wagram. Greatly perturbed, the instructors acquaint Marie Louise that she may chide her son. But it is he who, in a delightful scene, gently reproaches his mother with forgetfulness of the glory with which Napoleon has enshrouded her im-

all that tends to imaginative power, as well | all that tends to imaginative power, as well as to exquisite sensibility, embodied in this great epic: a page of history, the strophe of a poem, and a glimpse into the realms of fancy. As to what can be said of the political force of "L'Algion," every subject foreign to the domain of legend and art is beliftled in commercian. belittled in comparison.

foreign to the domain of legend and art is belittled in comparison.

First, one must turn to Scheenbrunn, on the day following the revolution of 1830. The son of Napoleon, titled Duke de Reichstadt, Archduke and Colonel in the Austrian army, has just attained his majority. His existence is one of semi-servitude, and especially a servitude of a moral nature. Metternich, to whom England—having taken possession of the eagle*—has entrusted the eaglet, leaves him in complete ignorance of the history that Napoleon has created. Nevertheless, this child prisoner troubled the pulse of Europe, as he occupied the attention of the Court of Vienna The women had smiles for this son of a Cæsar; his aunt, the archduchess, cherished him with a friendship that was the lie of her love. And he, instructed by her, by Fanny Elisler, his mistress, and by his friend, Prokesch, dreamed of France, where they in turn thought of him. It is, in reality, authentically exact that some atreality, authentically exact that some at than a French carbonaro of romantic tendencies, and a partisan of the new regime, who has become a conspirator through Byronism, ennul and literary dilettanteism. The cause is a just one, calling upon the sove-reign in the name of a portion of the younger generation of 1830, and the scene is a humorgeneration of 1830, and the scene is a humor-ous one, where the tailor offers his merchan-dise with a loquacity of a commercial trav-eler. It is not without reason, however, that the tailor vaunts his goods; he is thus able to apprise the duke that in one of the coats that he wishes to dispose of to him will be found the list of the latter's notable adherents. Nevertheless, the prince hesitates, but wishes to convince the "tailor" and "mili-ner" that he is the worthy son of the em-peror, and that, if he defers their privilege to peror, and that, if he defers their privilege to hope, he does not destroy it.

In return, he requests them to be present during the lesson in history that is about to be given him by his professors, styled by Metternich "two humble, worthy pedants," who, while telling the duke of the treaties of peace concluded by Napoleon, forget to speak of the victories which preceded them. The duke, although closely watched, is al-perial crown, and finally, sends her to the ball she had been about starting for, with melancholy thoughts.

The second act opens with a fine bit of comedy. The duke, returning unexpectedly from parade, finds the prefect of police rummaging through his papers and instructing his servants, who are in reality paid spies in the government employ. The confusion of the functionary, who is assailed with contemptuous epigrams, is the amus-ing incident that follows. With the pre-fect's disappearance the duke takes a lesson from his friend, Prokesch.

from his friend, Prokesch.

History is uncertain as to the part the latter plays with the Duke de Reichstadt, but M. Rostand has embodied him with the attributes of a true friend. Prokesch, the officer, gives the duke lessons in tactics.

The two friends are in the habit of having The two friends are in the habit of having manœuvres with a quantity of wooden soldiers, in Austrian uniforms, which they keep in a large box, and when Prokesch is called away from the court for a few days, the duke brings out the soldiers for his own amusement, and finds in amasement that they have become Frenchmen. Unaware as to how the miracle has been effected, he ranges the men, his imagination evoking memories of paternal victories. And, while he is thus employed, he is dis-

And, while he is thus employed, he is discovered by Mitternich.

It is needless to say that the latter is incensed with an adventure that is incomprehensible to him. He summons his lackeys and bids them to remove the soldiers. The duke may have soldiers, but an Austrian colonel must not know how to command, even in idle jest, those who wear other than the white uniform.

Then the duke declares that he will henceforth renounce his favorite distraction.

Then the duke declares that he will hence-forth renounce his favorite distraction.

This decision awakens surprise. Among the spies who wait upon the duke is one called "the Piedmontese," who has in reality been sent to the Metternich police by the police of Piedmont. And now this grey mustached fellow watches his opportunity and aproaches the prince, whispering in his ear not to be chagrined, that he will repaint ear not to be chagrined, that he will repaint the new soldiers. The sly Pledmontese, however, was an accomplice to the con-spiracy of the Countess Camerata, and none other than the ex-sergeant of the "Garde," the "Parisian Flambeau," and he makes a wry face upon opening the door to admit a visitor, imposed on the duke by Mitternich. This stranger is Marshal Marmont, who has come to the Court of Vienna.

This stranger is Marshal Marmont, who has come to the Court of Vienna.

The duke has already received him on numerous occasions. He is a traitor. But the latter speaks of Napoleon, and this time the duke interrogates him in return. But the marshal has nothing further to say. The prince then flies into one of those violent passions that form part of his in-heritance. Astofilshed, Marmont wishes to withdraw. He refers to the lassitude of the war, overwhelming the generals. And then Flambeau, who has been a silent listener to Flambeau, who has been a silent listener to this language, which is but the piteous ex-cuse of treason, intervenes. "And we," he exclaims, "the lowly, the soldiers, who had neither endowments nor soldiers, who had neither endowments nor kingdoms to look to? Did we show signs of fatigue? Were we traitors?"

Marmont is disconcerted before this fidelity. He has recognized in the Duke de Reichstadt's anger his potent kinship to the "Eagle." "If he betrayed the father, he mused, he will be pardoned in serving the son? Why not? Flambeau is in his way both a philosopher and politician. Why should not he, Marmont, become a Fouche both a philosopher and politician. Why should not he, Marmont, become a Fouche or Talleyrand in uniform."

The Duke de Reichstadt this time allows The Duke de Reichstadt this time allows himself to be convinced. Flambeau has repeatedly told him that his memory is a very verdant one in France, has assured him of his popularity, that he is the fashion, his picture being printed on the silk hand-kerchlefs and visible on the pipes he has shown him, a naive custom, but one indicative of popularity. So it is finally arranged that if Flambeau sees something unusual on the prince's table when he goes on duty at night, it is to be the signal for him to acquaint the Counters Camerata and the conspirators, and to give them a renhim to acquaint the Countess Camerata and the conspirators, and to give them a rendezvous on that portion of the battle field in close proximity to Schoenbrunn.

But he must wait until then; for, before leaving, the duke has sworn to the archduchess, who has fathomed his projects, that he would put the matter before the emperor, his grandfather, who was not for a moment adverse to lending his aid to the restoration of the Duke de Reichstadt. The Emperor Franz is at Schoenbrunn, and re-Emperor Franz is at Schoenbrunn, and re-ceives the petitions of his subjects, and just after he has conferred liberty upon a Ty-rollan peasant, and sent him back to his own land, the duke asks that he, too, be sent back to the banks of the Seine, where he was born.

And the scene is a charming one, wherein and the scene is a charming one, wherein the duke envelops his aged kinsman, who, they say, loved him very dearly, with the memories of his early youth, and draws from him his consent to the undertaking. Metternich, who arrives at the close of the interview, realizes with vexation that a project is about to be attempted that may rouse sil Europe. But, too shrewd a politician to question the will of his master, he feigns to lend himself to the cause. Only, he protests, sary with such an enterprise in view. first is the tricolor flag which the duke sa-luted the day before, and which was for the first time visible in the cockade of a French first time visible in the cockade of a French military attache, be replaced by a white flag. The duke files into a passion. He will not reclaim his heritage to forswear the father, from whom he obtains it, he cries. It is not as the son of Marie Louise that he must reign in France, but as the son of Napoleon. The quarrel attains stupen-ous proportions, and the scene is a notable one. The duke leaves his grandfather's presone. The duke leaves his grandfather's ence determined to give the sign of the spirators.

The signal is one of Napoleon's hats that he wore in battle, which the duke secretly possesses, and which he places at a corner of his work table. Night has come. The duke has re-entered his room, and Metternich, who has a key to the apartment, means to speak to him. He is determined to use decisive measures to bring the young prince to the knowledge that he must abandon all idea of adventure and rebellion. He enters the cabinet—where Napoleon had once received him to state his orders as a conqueror. Metternich then sees the emperor's hat, resting as he had been accustomed to leave it, on the corner of his table. At the sight of this evoked relic of his emeny and the vanquisher of his country, Metternich—who was, in sbort, a great patriot—becomes incensed. However, during the night a vague terror is added to his anger. His mind reverts to the Schoenbrunn that Napoleon occupied. He seems to see the grenadier who kept watch at his door. Then he turns in the moonlight and perceives a grenadier in full uniform doing sentry duty at the Duke de Reichstadt's door. It is Flambeau. The old soldier has jovial heroism. (Here is the point of contact with the romantic heroes of Dumas). It is a satisfaction for him, even at the risk of his life, to again don his old uniform for the defense of the King of Rome. And when Metternich, bewildered, calls, Flambeau disappears delighted at having mystified and terrified the great politician.

But Metternich takes a terrible revenge. At his summons the duke issues from his room. Then Metternich addresses him. He leads him, with a candle in his hand, to a cheval glass tat he may look at himself. Is he a fit subject to conquer nations, the son of a Casar? he queries. He bids him observe his Austrian lip and the palior of his race, and realize what he is, a weakling incapable of effort. And the duke, overpowered in this scene of Shakespearean terror, falls unconscious before the glass that he has shattered in his fright.

The next act, in pleasing contrast, is of both a brilliant and gay nature. It opens with a masked ball. Flambeau, this time without peril, is again in the uniform of a grenadier, and has received the orders for the departure. The Countess Camerata, wearing a mask, and attired in the duke's costume, has tracked the police. The prince can quit the ball without being followed. But at this festivity he has again encountered Therese, the "Pettie Source." He knows that she loves him, and, in a preceding exquisite scene, whil

"He it is, then, who is the explatory victim of this anguish," he mentally ejaculates, "of these dead beings." But distant sounds of trumpets resound in his ears. It is the army saluting the conquering emperor. Glory transports him, but not for long. Alias I to day of reckoning has come. The last sound that is then heard is that of the duke's regiment, which is coming to mand the Austrian soldiers, at the voice of its mand, present arms before the victory of the duke's regiment, which is coming to mand the Austrian soldiers, of the dead grenadier. For andeur, the spectator witnesses the death scene of the duke at Schoenbrunn. The archduchess, Countess Camerata and Therese, whose sobs betrayed her near presence while the duke is receiving the sacrament in the chapel, bend over the dying prince and console him with the avowal of their love. He, resigned, bids them read the ceremonial of his baptism, and again call him King of Rome and son of Napoleon. But, as soon as his head has fallen back on the pillow, Metternich orders the body to be reattired in the white unifor of the Duke of Reichstaft, colonel in the Austrian army. A sad revenge for the action of the wooden soldiers.

While this strong drama is being admirably enacted in the French capital, some little can be said in detail as to the interpretation of all of the various roles. Each artishas been chosen by M. Rostand's marvelous notes. Each artishas been chosen by M. Rostand's marvelous notes. Fach artishas been chosen by M. Rostand's marvelous interpretary, which rises from boyish folly to the sublime, and which is permeated with grace, melancholy, despair, anger and heroism. It is in the hards of the poet, act the rich poetry of the human heart, and Mme. Sarah Berhardt has added to the beauty of the sentiments, to the beauty of the lines which express them, the beauty of which she seems to be the sole possesor; that power of interpretation which she alone can impart. But it must be still understood that in essaying the role of the Duke de Reichstadt, Be in the stage effect and in every accessory pertaining to the work. This desire to make a faithful reproduction on canvas of all the noteworthy scenes in the melancholy existence of the King of Rome caused Bernhardt to visit Vienna in company with M. Rostand, and to linger about Schoenbrunn, and in the other Austrian palaces that are all so repicte with memories of the unhappy exile.

Without giving further details as to the beauty and accuracy of the scenic effects, it is sufficient to realize that the American public is to be permitted to witness this marvelous production of a great dramatic poem. Bernhardt will visit this country during the season of 1900-1901, and be seen in this great role. Then it is that once again the lovers of poetry and artistic ability may be the recipients of her subtle art.

Incidental to Bernhardt's appearance, it is approps to aliude to the coming exploitation of Rostrand's delightful play by a talented American artist, Manude Adams. Evidencing the fact that Miss Adams was in Parls and at the earlier performances of "L'Aigion," there is the possibility that the English rendition may be on lines just a triffe similar to the French version, in that, unconscious absorption, sometimes betrays itself even when one is positive that the genius of originality leavens one's efforts.

"Monday, June 25, was a day that all American performers in England and on the continent were looking forward to, and many hundreds in America were anxious to hear how Smith and Campbell, who opened at the Palace that night, would do with a London audience. They apparently had a harder job before them than Dan Leno or Chirgwin had in America, as they depended solely on talking. Their time on the programme was 10.15, and from the first gag until the finish of 17½ minutes of talking they had the audience with them, and never lost a point. The act could not have gone better in America, and the applause that was given them at their finish was long, strong and hearty. Their contract called for two weeks, but Mr. Morton engaged them for four more after the first show, making six weeks in all, with the privilege of holding them indefinitely. They received forty telegrams and letters, with best wisshes, from friends. The Whitney Bros., who just closed a two months' engagement at the Palace, were another big hit there, so much so that they come back in five weeks for a return engagement. They are visiting Paris this week and are booked solid for over one year, opening next week. Smith and Cook were another of America's big successes at the Palace; they also have a return engagement, and are booked in Germany, Switzerland and the provinces. Robbins, trick 'cyclist, has all London talking about his performance. He is a permanent feature at the Palace and a strong drawing card. The America Quartette, who opened here, found their name had been used in London, so they changed to the International Comedy Four. They were a hit, and re-engaged for another month. The three biggest successes at the Empire are J. H. Burton, with his performing dogs; the Streator Zouaves, and our transformation act. We are duplicating our success at the Palace lake Rose's importation, Ching Ling Foo, is the feature at the Alhambra. The Hengler Sisters are also doing fine there. Houdin! has signed with the s and gave a private performance for the press yesterday. He opens Monday, and we expect another big American success. Saharet opens there July 2, for a long engagement. Frank Latona, the musical tramp, is another pronounced hit over here, at the Tivoli and Oxford, and is booked solid for two years, and his talented wife, Jennie Gabrielle, who is at the Stratford, is the hit of the performance. She has a sweet, sympathetic voice and a good delivery, but the feature of her specialty is her plano solos and imitations. Her execution is wonderful. At the conclusion of Mr. Latona's present engagements they intend to work together. The Pantzer Bros. are doing big at the Hippodrome. Helene Mora opened at the Metropolitan, Oxford and Tivoli, and was an instantaneous success. Lizzle B. Raymond is a big favorite at the Oxford, and scores heavily. She has more work offered her here than she can take. Snyder and Buckley are a hit at the Tivoli. Bitchie, the tramp 'cyclist, is a success at the Crystal Palace. Will H. Fox is repeating his former hit at the Empire, New Cross. He is booked solid until 1902, but is trying very hard to get his dates postponed or canceled in order to spend a few months in the States on business. Barney Fagan and Henrietta Byron and Bill Rowe did big in the provinces. They open at the Palace July 9. Lizzle and Vinie Daly open at the Royal next week. The Robinson-Raker Trio are playing exhibitions during July, and are in great demand. Pauline Mayhew opens at the Oxford Monday. Her husband, Sparrow, the juggler, arrives from Switeriand next week. Seymore and Dupree opened in Glasgow, and made a big hit, taking three curtain calls. Burns and Evans, and Derenda and Breen open in the provinces after a highly successful season in London. Free Leslie, Prince Kokin and Miss Migonette are all successes in London. The following Americans are now touring the provinces: Gotham City Quartet, Heeley and Marba, Major Doyle, Harry Edson, Mays Amorthe the Visiting Americans we found Harry Morris, May Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scribber, Charles Franklyu, Ed. Rush, the Whallen Bros., from Louisville, and John and Emma Ray. Wilson and Waring are taking a much needed rest at Aachen, a bathing resort in Germany. They have been remarkably successed in England. The McNuity Bisters, Eddy Redway, the Two Franks, and Jerry Hart and Reatrice Leo are also successes over here. As you see from the list, the Americans have invaded England, and the theatre that has the most American acts has the best vandeville shows. We sail for New York City and Rochester we go to Idaho Springs, Col., to take a three months' rest and look over our mining interests."

MILLE, ILDA ORME, a comparative stranger to the American public, gave a very smart turn at the Sea Beach Palace, Coney Island, last week. It is an unusual compliment to an artist when a leader and his entire orchestra lay down their instruments to applaud, but this really happened on several occasions at the palace after Mile. Orme finished her act. She has magnetism, a fine soprano voice and unusual grace.

C. D. Surviss writes to THE CLIPPER as follows: "After spending two weeks at my home in Buffalo, on account of the illness of my wife, I am at Norwood Park, Auburn, N. Y., for two weeks, with Hamilton, Ont.; New Castle, Pa.; Cascade Park, Youngstown, O., and McKeesport, Pa., to follow. After I close in McKeesport I will introduce a new act at the Masonic Temple Roof, Chicago, and will be assisted by the Black Diamond Quartet, Chas Morris, Jack Marion, Grant Stroter and Jass Douglass."

Alt. H. West has closed his sixth week on the Northwestern circuit, and opens at Coney Island, Clincinnati, MANAGER W. B. WATSON has added to his already long list of attractions for next season the United States Burlesquers, which will play in all the Eastern cities, not going west of Cleveland. The scenery is now under way, the paper almost ready, time booked almost soild and company partly engaged. Although he prides himself to a considerable extent about the merits of his Americans, still he makes a positive assertion that the United States Beauties will be a very worthy competitor for first honors. Everything seems to point to a most excellent attraction, and the U. S. Beauties will try and establish as firm a hold upon the public as the Americans. Little need be said as to the progress of the Americans, for with the exception of the completing of the costumes, which of course will be fitted during rehearsals, everything else is completed in its entirety. The Dunfee Theatre, Syracuse, and Music Hall, Lynn, both of which are under W. B. Watson's management, are almost completely renovated. The Dunfee will be the handsomest house in Northern New York, while Music Hall, Lynn, will hold the honors for Massachusetts. The prospective London Music Hall, for which Manager Watson is now completing negotiations, will be one of the most complete and handsomest places of vaudeville amusement in London. The seating capacity will be increased to 1,792, and the stage made sufficiently large to play the very largest spectacliar burlesque.

EMMETT J. WELCH AND WM. STRATTON report success with their illustrated songs, with Bryant & Saville's Minstrels, touring Pennsylvania.

The Musical Colbys played Pinehurst Park, Leominster, Mass., last week, and are playing at Brookfield, Mass

MATD MADISON writes: "To-day, the Fourth of July, was American Day in Paris, and it was calabrated in most state." MAUD MADISON writes: "To-day, the Fourth of July, was American Day in Paris, and it was celebrated in good style. The unveiling of the Lafayette statue, with Sousa's Band playing and crowds of Americans cheering, made one feel a little homesick. In the afternoon, at the Exposition. Sousa received an ovation, taking three and four encores after each number, but the climax was reached when he played all of our popular airs, including 'A Hot Time' Every American, young and old, stood up and joined in the chorus. On the Rue de Paris is theatre after theatre: the performers stand outside, o is Coney Island, in their make up, as an inducement for the public to go in, but to no avail. Among the many foreign names are a few familiar ones. Lona Barrison, of the Barrison Sisters, is featured at the Grand Guignol; Lole Fuller has the Japanese players at her's. I have appeared at some of the largest private receptions, among others Mrs. Potter Paimer. I have secured the latest novelties in the way of dances and costumes, and expect to return in September."

THE GERAT BARLOW MINSTELLS is to be the first minstrel company all engaged.

LEW H. CARROLL and Maude Ellston have been re-engaged to continue in the stock at the Plaze, Boston, until Ang. II.

W. B. WATBON will again put on a funny alley scene. Although a little different from last season, this idea is his own; all new dialogue, songs, big acts, and ten comedy characters. The scenery is now all finished, and it is a double tenement, two Irishmen, one Dutchman, one Jew, four principal comedy parts, and two sets of slippery day stairs. The American Burlesquers opens its season at Syracuse, N. Y. The first part will be "The Coal Heaver's Revenge," showing the coal mines and the shaft.

CHAS. F. BERGER, of the team of Reed and Berger, was made a Royal Arch Mason while playing the park at Leavenworth, Kan.

EUGRNE MACK and Chas. Daintre have just closed ten weeks on the New York circuit of parks, and have eight weeks booked in parks through Ohlo, to open July 15.

Sullivan and Wenzel are at Erb's Casino, North Beach, L. I., this week.

Guy Rawson and Marion Baisly have signed with Ed. F. Rush for next season, to produce their specialty and put on the burlesque with the Little Egypt Co.

Lillian Burkhart has wrecked the record for long engagements in the const theatros of the Orpheum circuit. She closes a nine weeks' season in the Orpheum circuit. She closes a nine weeks' season in the Orpheum of your weeks in Los Angeles. The most distinguished vaudeville headliners are not supposed to play longer than three weeks in Ran Francisco and two weeks in Los Angeles. Miss Burkhart played nine. During this season she produced five plays that were new to the coast. Three of these were premier productions. Each of the new plays scored an unequivocal hit. One of the new ores, "Capt. Suzanne," was declared by newspaper critics to be the strongest sketch in her repertory of twelve plays. In San Francisco "Fifty Years Ago" first saw the light on any stage. It was played for a week. It was written by Hubert Henry Davies, a young New York playwright. "Capt. Susanne," by Braudon Hurst, and "Garret Salvation," by Marion Short, were given initial presentations in Los Angeles. The Los Angeles Heraid devoted its entire first page on Sunday, July 1, to portraits of Miss Burkhart as "Capt. Suzanne" The actress simulates a French hussar in the play, and her male costume lends piquancy to the photos, as it doubtless does to the stage characterization. Miss Burkhart was further honored by the Los Angeles Orpheum management by having July 11 set aside as a "Lifflan Burkhart Day," when silver sonvenir spoons were given. A stage reception was held by Miss Burkhart, and oliner features were added to accentuate the Burkhart character of the occasion.

McKanlass Closed his company at Harbor Bepch, Mich., June 26. Lizzie Perry, his leading lady, is with him on a two months visit to New York.

M. W. Taylon has resigned the management of the Baseball Park Amusement Co., Philadelphia.

HILL AND EDMU

Portland.—The business continues good at the several resorts in this vicinity, and it is hardly to be wondered at when taking into consideration what a tempting invitation these places present on a hot day.

McCullum's Thrater, Cape Cottage Park (Bartley McCullum, manager).—The play selected by Manager McCullum for week of July 9 was "The Passing Regiment," the stock company giving a most satisfactory presentation. Fine business ruled during the week. Week of 16, "The English Rose." Gem Theatre, Peak's Island (C. W. T. Goding, manager).—"The Lottery of Love' was produced by the stock at this house 9-14, to excellent satisfaction, and very good houses prevailed throughout the week. Myrtle May and Carrie Clarke Ward are recent additions to stock at this house; week of 16, "A Stranger in a Strange Land."

KATZSCHMAN HALL.—The Remenyl Concert Co. appeared here 11, with Herr Victor Blegel, Margueritt Hall and Walter Wheatley, drawing a select and highly pleased audience. Riverton Pass (D. B. Smith, manager).—The bill at this resort for week of 9 was furnished by the London Vaudeville Company, with the following people: Pauline Moran and her pickaninnies, the Mazziottox, Prof. Vernon, the Martines, and Madame Vernon. The programme gave good satisfaction, and large crowds were in attendance daily.

Underwood Springs Park.—The natural attractions of this delightful place, Casisted by the Fadettes' Women's Orchestra and the electric fountain still continue to draw many people in quest of pleasure and also to escape the heat and dust of the city.

Notes,—The Casino Theatre, Long Island and Greenwood Garden, Penk's Island, discontinued their vaudeville performances during week of 9.

Denver.—On account of the extreme hot weather, all the people are taking in the outdoor attractions. The concerts of the City Park are having the largest crowds in the history of the park.

ELITCH (ARDENS (Mrs. John Ellitch Jr., manager)—Week of July 8: Blanche Bates, in "The Dancing Girl." is drawing big houses, blatchford, Kavanagh & Roney Boys' Concert Co. gives one performance, matinee 12.

MANHATTAN BEACH (Mrs. John Ellitch Jr., manager).—Week of 9 the Bellows Stock Co. presented "Niobe." to fair houses.

WM. K. PECK is in the city making arrangements for the Ringling Bros.' Shows, which will be here in August.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Wheeling.—At the Wheeling Park Casino (Conrad Hirsch, manager), week of July 23, the Jos. C. Fay Opera Co. will be the attraction..... Al. Levl. of New York, is visiting his sister in this city.

OUR LONDON LETTER

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Eng., July 4.

"The end of the season" is in sight; in fact, is within very easy hail, and from both a theatrical point of view and a social point of view the period for the ringing down of the curtain for the Summer holiday is at hand.

Taking it all is all the season.

Taking it all in all it has been a less disastrous time with the purveyors of public entertainment than was anticipated by the pessimists who thought that the the content of the content other entertainments is undermining the bitherto good health of numerous player folk. At the Shaftesbury Theatre Ella Snyder has been sinfering from serious fainting fits, and now Edna May is badly troubled with the same complaint. In Miss May's case the attacks come on so suddenly that there is no knowing what might happen, and she is obliged to have some member of the family constantly with her. At the Galety Grac Paletta has been taken with sudden fainting, and a few days ago Maud Hobson swooned, and could not be brought to consciousness for over an hour. I do not know how many times Miss May has offered her services in the good cause of charity, but I should imagine it mounts way beyond the century mark since the South African war began. The American performers in particular, over here, have responded nobly to the call for assistance, and that fact alone should endear them to the English folk. I do not think I am far out of the way when I state that nine, out of ten charity entertainments have had the assistance of Americans. By Wolf Hopper and his company appeared lime and time again when in this country Frank Lawton has never declined to respond o the innumerable calls made upon him Ella Snyder, James F. Sullivan, Edua May's sister, Jane May, and numerous other members of the American professional colony here deserve deep thanks. R. G. Knowles has added lustre to over one huedred and fifty charity programmes since the outbreak of the war, ard only a few weeks ago appeared the same afternoon at the Alhambra and at the Crystal Palace. Besafes ins has given financial aid to several of the unds. I might mention in this connection that the same week that Mr. Knowles (an American) was giving his servicts in the above connection Clara Butt. (an Englishwoman) was paid fifty guineas for singing at a concert at the Hotel Cecil in aid of the poor disabled soldlers. I know whereof I speak, as I myself saw the check drawn up. Charles Herts, the celebrated lilusionist, is at the Empire Theatre of Varieties, Holioway Hoad, after an absence from London of several months.

Burke and Andrus, with their clever mule, Frisco, are one of the novelties at the Hippodrome this week, having just concluded a most successful engagement in Paris.

Charles Arthur Dunlop, a music hall performer, of 16 Delverton Road, Walworth Road, was knocked down and killed by an omnibus in Walworth Road, June 22. Dunlop passed in front of a tram car, apparently not noticing where he was going, reading a paper, when the omnibus came along, knocking him down and passing over his head. At the inquest the driver of the omnibus was exonerated from all biame, for, although the "bus" was on the wrong side of the road, the accident could not have been prevented, as the deceased ran right in front of the horses' heads.

Alexandra Dagmar is taking a three weeks' rest, after a most successful tour in the provinces, and previous to opening at the Oxford 16. In Cork are many Americans, and her appearance, voice and smart costumes were finteringly commented upon. One night in Cork, at the conclusion of her sixth song, an American in the audience called for three cheers for her, which was heartily given.

sixth song, an American in the audience called for three cheers for her, which was heartily given.

The stage has been deprived of a young actor of much promise by the death of Grisbrooke Waller, under somewhat sad circumstances in the South African campaign. Mr. Waller resigned his engagement at the Vaudeville Theatre, and volunteering for the front went out as a trooper in Paget's Corps.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell terminates her season at the Royalty Theatre 14, after which she will take a short rest, and then go on tour. It is her present intention to reopen the Royalty on or about Oct. 14. "Magda," by the way, will reach its 150th performance at this theatre 6, when Mrs. Campbell will have played the part of Magda more than three hundred times. The matinees of "Pelleas and Melisande" have proved so successful that Mrs. Campbell have proved so successful that Mrs. Campbell have proved so successful that Mrs. Campbell have be opened by Mrs. Langtry 9 The attraction will be found in Goldsmith. Nona Seabrooke. Miss Mayne, Roland Cunningham, Henry Doughty, Lawrence Grossmith, Archer Seymour. C. A. Biggs and E. J. Malyon, who will act as stage manager as well as play in the piece.

Robert Arthur has two new pieces in contemplation, a comic opera and a drāma. The former, by Norman D. Slee, with music by John Ansell, entitled "The King of Celaria," will be produced at the Princess of Wales Theatre, Kennington, during the Autumn, under the direction of Walter Summers. The drama, which is by Mr. Summers, is entitled "A Man Without a Heart," and will have its initial production in the Spring of 1901.

Harvard Arnold and William Kittredge have postponed their production of "A King of Parker Port of the production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A King of Parker Port of the Production of "A K under the direction of Walter Summers, Is entitled "A Man Without a Heart," and will have its initial production in the Spring of 1901.

Harvard Arnold and William Kittredge have postponed their production of "A Kingdom for a King" until next Spring, and are sending out "Called Back," with Oiga Brandon in the leading part.

Frank Lawton has been engaged for the new ballet at the Empire, and a part has been especially written for him. "Round the Town Again," however, is going quite as strongly as at first, and there seems to be no occasion for replacing it with the new ballet, at least just at present, particularly as London at the present season is filled with strangers who have not seen "Round the Town Again." The shortly to be produced ballet is shaping well, and Manager Hitchins promises it will be a thing of "joy and beauty." There has been some talk regarding a number of ladles of the "upper ten" applying to figure in one of the scenes. That is all very well, but even so called society ladies would not be one whit smarter than the regular ladles of the Empire corps de ballet.

"Kitty Grey," which is having such a successful run at the Vaudeville, is to be recast by George Edwardes on musical lines, and is to go on tour. Mr. Edwardes, by the way, is still negotiating with the Messrs. Gattis for the possession of the Adelphi, and, although the outcome is as yet uncertain, it is highly probable that when Autumn comes the famous Galety manager will be in possession of the old Strand home of melodrama, and that the Adelphi will then be known as Edwardes' Theatre. The fact that the Galety Theatre is shortly to be torn down, and it will be fully elghteen months ere the new Galety Theatre is shortly to be torn down, and it will be fully elghteen months ere the new Galety Theatre is shortly to be torn down, and the Mr. Edwardes will withdraw "San Toy," which is proving a gold mine, in order to find place for the Galety favorites.

The demand for seats for "The School for Scandal," at the Haymarket Theatre, has prov lesse Lennen, Curtice Pounds and George Giddens.

Emily Foxeroft, who has just arrived from your country after completing a two months' successful tour, will go out through the Autumn with Amy Sherman, Herbert Grover and others.

A collection of Clement Scott's criticisms on the playing of the moody Dane by Henry Irving. Wilson Barrett, Forbes Robertson, Beerbohm Tree and Sarah Bernhardt has lust been issued in half crown volume form under the name of "Some Notable Hamlets." Even to those of us who may not alwayingree with Mr. Scott's views on these maters, the criticisms make interesting reading.

A new comedienne and vocalist, described as "inlimitable," made her appearance at the Palace Theatre last week and sangiongs specially written and composed for her by George Capel. Lisette, as she calls herself, made a good impression, being enthusiastically received by the Palace and one.

Martin Harvey, for some reason not made

Martin Harvey, for some reason not made public, announces the abandonment of his proposed American tour. His tenancy of the Prince of Wales' Theatre finishes in a little over a fortnight, but Mr. Harvey is arranging for the lease of another West End theatre, at which he will appear in the Autumn, under his own management. I understand he proposes producing a new romantic play of a particularly interesting character, a venture which will undoubtedly be crowned with success. Mr. Harvey has a rare faculty for playing the poetical drama, which we off London cannot afford to spare, therefore his announcement regarding his future intentians will cause rejoicing among his admirers, and they are not by any means few in number.

Mrs. George Edwardes, wife of the well known theatrical manager, met with a serious driving accident near Windsor, June 29. The horse became unmanageable, and Mrs. Edwardes and the coachman were both thrown out. Mrs. Edwardes sustained injuries to her right eye, and was badly shaken. A niece of Mrs. Edwardes, seated at the back of the trap, jumped out. In so doing her dress caught, and she was dragged some distance, being much cut and bruised.

Mr. De Jong, who is the only manager engaging companies here who also possesses his own theatre in South Africa, the Opera House, Capetown, expects to open the theatre in Johannesburg in the middle of September, putting on "Facing the Music." He is so certain of being able to open at Johannesburg at that time that he has made all arrangements for taking his company out the fatter part of last month. Before leaving England Mr. De Jong said: "Everything is going to be infinitely better for every one ifter the war, especially for theatrfeal enceprises. My companies play in the Opera of Last Month. Rimberley, Preoria, East London, Port Elizabeth and Johannesburg. When we have a success we play to average receipts of £1,200 a week. In Fretoria and Johannesburg, thanks to the security and confidence which will be felt things will boomy for a long time. Bloomfonieln, which has never had a theatre, will have one built for it by me, should the became a garrison town. Wherever there are Brittish soldiers there the drama flourishes. The government officials, from Si Alfred Milner downwards, are cordial patrons of mine; but Cecil Rhodes, though he is a large share holder in the theatre building, never by any chance pays us a visit. The Boers are very poor supporters of the heatres. The English and colonials are the only people on whom we can rely. In the Iransvaal we charge from ten shillings stall lownwards; in the Cape and Natal, from six shillings. The best towns to visit from only people on whom we can rely. good play, so long as it has the London trade mark; without it a work of genius stands no chance. We never produce new pleces ourselves, because our public does not want them except via London. If we secure the patronage of the governor and the navai officers stationed at Simonste success is assured, because the English and colonials naturally follow. The only play to which the Dutch came in large numbers was 'East Lynne,' because the book was translated into Dutch and they knew all about it, therefore, before it was presented on the stage. Personally the war has been of great financial benefit, because my theatre in Capetown has been packed by immigrants from all over South Africa who had nowhere else to go for their amusement. Their favorite fare is musical comedy and farce. Military plecos they did not like at all. They were too realistic; when the people went to the theatre they wanted to try to forget the war. I shall build my own theatre in Johannesburg, now that it is British; I should certainly never have done so under the old regime, for you never would have known where you are."

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

Francois Mars Augustus Peror, a well known teacher of music, died July 9, at his home in Philadelphia, P.a. aged eighty-six. He was born in St. Sever, Fr., his father being band master in the Imperial Guards under Napoleon Bonaparte. Young Perot studied music at Pau, and made such progress that at the age of fourteen was teaching. He came to this country in 1842 and engaged with an opera troupe in New Orleans. Later he was leader of the orchestra of the Broadway Theatre, New York, and was leader of the Astor Place Opera House during the Forrest-Macready riots. He went to Philadelphia in 1851, and endeavored to have singing taught in the public schools. He failed to secure an appointment and went to Europe. Returning to Philadelphia in 1876-76-77 he was Superintendent of Music in the schools in that city. After serving there for about six years he came 40 New York and was for a time teacher in the National Conservatory. He returned to Philadelphia in 1892, and had since lived there.

Frankelin Moleay, an actor, died July 6, in London, Eng., from brain fever. The deceased was born in Canada, and in the early 90's he became a lecturer on Shakespeare. In 1894, when Wilson Barrett visited Canada, he heard Mr. Meleay made his debut in a small role in "Clapdian," at the Sakespeare Theatre, Liverpool, Eng. He made a success from the start, and among the important roles he assumed while with Mr. Barrett were: The Bishop, in "Ben-My-Chree" the Ghost, in "Hamlet;" Father Christmas, in "The Silyer King;" the Bat, in "Pharaoh;" Nero, in "The Sign of the Cross;" Jediah, in "Daughters of Babylon," and Dentatus, in "Virginus." When Mr. Barrett revived "Othello" at the Lyric Theatre, appearing as Cassius in "Julius Cassar;" He had continued to play important engagements up to within a few weeks of his death, his last being with Mr. Tree's company, and the last play in which he appeared was "Rip Van Winkle," in which he played the role of Derrick. On Dec. 18, 1898, Mr. McLeay married Grace Warner, the Lewis S. Bartlett, manager of the Balbrega Co., was accidentally killed at Pernambuco, Brazil, June 12. The details of the accident will be found in another column.

Lou (Edward L.) Miller, a baritone singer, died July 10, in Philadelphia, from Bright's disease. He was thirty years of age, and had been connected at various times with the Lillian Russell Opera Co., "The Passing Show" and other musical attractions.

THE VAUDEVILLE "COMBINE."

Its Membership Enlarged Importantly—Plans for the Future.

An important meeting of the Association of Vaudeville Managers of the United States was held in this city July 11 and 12. All the members save three—B. F. Kelth, C. E. Kohł and J. D. Hopkins—were in attendance. Mr. Keith was detained at his home by illness, and in his absence the vice president, George Middleton, of St. Louis, occupied the chair. Mr. Kohl was represented by proxy, as was Mr. Hopkins.

The two days' session was entirely harmonious, so The CLIPPER is informed on official authority. New members were admitted as follows: Percy G. Williams, of Brooklyn: Hurtig and Seamon, of Harlem: Jake Wells, of Richmond and Norfolk: Lee Schubert, of Syracuse; P. F. Shea, of Springfield and Worcester, and S. Z. Toli, of New Haven and Waterbury. This completes the organization roster, and thus the membership now comprises every vaudeville house of any prominence in America and Canada.

Mr. Williams, of Brooklyn, was admitted without conditions or agreements of any sort whatsoever—a very graceful act on the part of his former adversaries, Hyde & Behman. Mr. Proctor, in not opposing the admission of his Harlem neighbors, Hurtig & Seamon, also gave practical evidence of foresight and good business acumen.

There are now twenty-six members, and some forty odd theatres represented. The Hashims, of Philadelphia, are the only ones outside "the fold." Bookings of vaudeville rithe fold."

SEE NOTICE AT HEAD OF LIST.

Boston.—For the week of 16 two of the theatres offer revivals of shows that always please the public. The same operas hold the boards at the Columbia and the Chutes, while the vaudeville houses and parks have something new to offer their patrons.

COLUMBIA THEATRE (A. H. Chamberlyn, manager).—"Very Little Faust" is to be known this week as the second edition, as it contains new business and new faces. The managers have secured, as announced, Otis Harlan to play Valentine, and Mamie Gliroy will assume the role of Jess Tryon. Last week's business was good.

TREMONT THEATRE (John B. Schoeffel, manager).—The stock company, with Florence Rockwell in the title role, will present "Camille" week of 18. In rehearsal, "Ours." "Fink Dominoes" closed week of 9, to nig business.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATES (J. H. Emery, manager). — "A Temperance Town," with Richards and Canfield in their oid roies, bids fair to do good business the coming week, in rehearsal, "Northern Lights." "What Happened to Jones" played to big business the past week.

THE CHUTES (Milbank & Gilbert, managers).—"Pinafore" will continue to be the attraction on these grounds for a good many weeks, if last week's business is any criterion on these grounds for a good many week, if last week's business is any criterion. The content of the co Lyan.—At Willow Park Theatre, Salem Willows (F A. Dana, manager), a good business was done last week. The attractions this week are in the variety class, with music by Brigham's singing orchestra.

GORMAN'S NEW SUMMER PARK THEATRE (J. A. Brady, manager).—A big business was done here last week. The bill for the current week includes; Solaret, the fire dancer; Conwey and Leiand mononedes: Lulu Theis.

done here last week. The bill for the current week includes: Solaret, the fire dancer; Conway and Leland, monopedes: Lulu Theis, black face comedian; Harry A. Bower, musical act: Morgan and Otto, Dutch comedians, and Mohala, mind reader.

Casino, Nahant Beach (Davy & Leslle, managers).—Business continues to improve every day and the shows are good. The bill this week is variety.

Relay House, Nahant (E. H. Brann, manager).—This week's attractions sre: Forepaugh and Sheehan, black face singers and dancers; the Joyces, vocalists: Thomas Crowley, mimic; litta Powers, vocalists.

Notes.—The work of renovating the Lynn theatre for next season has commenced, a force of painters and decorators starting to work 16. The house will open week of Aug. 27.....Jere McAuliffe and Harry Katzes are busy reading plays here, and getting things ready for the opening of the season of the McAuliffe Stock Co., which occurs early in September. The company will number twenty people, and will also have special scenery that is to be carried in a special car. Mr. Katzes will be the manager, and Willard Stanton will again be found in his old place as business manager. Among the plays to be produced this year are "The Electrician," "The Man-o'-Wars Man," "A Man Without a Country" and "Husband of Choice." The rehearsals commence in August Recent additions to the company are: Hazel E. Pughsley, George Heath, Fred Malconfo Maud Scott, Joseph Berry, Emery and Nodine, Harry Allen and Al. Thomas, The company is booked through New England.... John E. Gilbert, of the Thomas E. Shea Company, is resting in his home at Lakesidé, and can be seen every day on the lake in his skiff. He opens his third season with Mr. Shea in September.... Midie

Fall River.—At Lincoln Park Theatre (Al. Haynes, manager) a successful season has been inaugurated week of 16. The California Trio, Coogan, Fulton and Ronan, Teresa Carre, Hurd, magician, and Charles and Mynnie Burroughs.

Digiton, Rock Park (Al. Haynes, manger).—The yaudeville list for week of 16 includes: Collins and Madell, Florence Wrangland, Fred Caldwell, and the Manhattan Quartette.

Nortss.—Iola Dodge, a bright child from the Katherine Rober Co., was a hit at Dighton Rock Park last week. J. J. Byrnes was in town last week, the guest of Leopold and Weston, whose vaudeville show he will manage next season.

Helyeke. — At Mountain Park Casino (W. J. Burke, manager) the bill for July 16 and week is: J. J. Morton, comedian: Post and Clinton, comedy sketch team; May Phelps, singer: Belle Hathaway's troupe of trained dogs and monkeys, and Carr and Jordan.

Lawrence. — At Glen Forest (Grant & Elynn, managers) "Skipped by the Light of the Moon" played to good business week of July: 11. Week of 18 Raymon Moore will be featured.

Cincinnati.—Old King Rex, at New Orleans, Momus of the Priests of Pallas at Kansas City, and the Velled Prophets of St. Louis will be shown a few new wrinkles by Cincinnatus at the coming Fall Festival. Preparations for that September event are about the only thing that relieves the mondtony of a midaummer duliness of the amusement world. It has been years since Cincinnati has had any entertainment of this sort, and thousands of visitors will be drawn from nearby States to enliven the early days of the coming season. There are no signs of theatrical revival on the bill boards, which are still monpolized by excursion posters and advice to use Swear's Dope and other things.

Chester Park (Charles E. Tudor, general manager).—The season of Summer opera is a prohounced success. The Chester Park Opera Co. will present "Cavalleria Rusticana" and the third act of "Lucia di Lammermoor" July 16. Adelaide Norwood will appear as Santuzza, and Payne Clarke, as Turrider, in the Mascagni opera. Last week houses of splendid proportions heard "Maritana." The intense hot season passed away and cooler evenings made life at the opera decidedly pleasant. Adelaide Norwood was heard in the title role. A. W. F. Mac Collin took care of the humorous old marquis. In the vaudeville theatre, 16: The Risdales, Carver and Jansen, Mayfield and Lee, Stuart and North, Edna Jasper and Foster and Williams. In their comedy, "Unneighbors."

LUDLÓW LAGOON (M. C. Anderson & Henry M. Ziegler, managers).—In the amphitheatre, 16, will be seen the Six Sennetts, Ahern and Fatrick, Josephine Gassman and her pickanianies, and King and Gray. Airion remains for another week on the high wire remains and the little theatre on Lake Como were seen Howard and Alton, Kherns and Cole, the Albions, and Haight and Dean. Conerts are given by the Cincinnati Military Band. Most of the boats to Coney Island

re at the Buckeye Theatre

Cleveland.—With the scorching bot days of July which we are experiencing thoughts turn to outdoor recreation and amusement, and very luckily Cleveland is fully provided to appease all tastes.

Candra Theatres (Chas. La Marche, proprietor).—With its many new and pleasant changes and additions the Garden is a very agreeable place to spend hot evenings. Tarticularly enjoyable are the very excellent bills which the management provides. For week July 9 Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sidman were the main feature. Their sketch, entitled "A Bit of Real Life," in which both were seen to advantage, was most thoroughly enjoyed. Trovolo, a ventriloquist of no mean ability, was another feature. Bay I. Boyce, in mimicry and impersonation, was elever. The others were: Lawrence and Harrington, in Bowery characters; Ollie and Bert. La Mont, in an acrobatic act: Arthur Rigo, who does an excellent bile as face turn, and, as an additional feature, the management presented the Faust Family, who doe and willing. The attendance continues to give very clever performances. "The Manhattan Opera Co. at the theatre continues to give very elever performances. "The Mascot" was sung last week. "The Mikado" is the current bill, An Eden Musee with a good collection of was figures is one of the latest additions. MANHATTAN BRACH PARK (W. R. Ryan, manager).—Attendance continues unabled. The new features for week of 16 are: Week, and the promises to be alively one. In addition to the regular parades and the fact that the park is on the lake adds much to bring out great crowds daily and nightly. The Manhattan Opera Co. at the theatre continues to give very clever performances. "The Mascot" was sung last week. "The Mikado" is the current bill, An Eden Musee with a good collection of was figures is one of the latest additions. MANHATTAN BRACH PARK (W. R. Ryan, manager).—Attendance continues unabled.

The new features for week of 16 are: Kajo, in fancy drill and gun spinning; the V. S. Talma Ladies' Military is and, and an English Punc was almost totally destroyed by a fierce wind storm which raged over Lake Eric last week. The loss in scenery, effects, etc., was about $5,000. The spectacular may be given later.

CUES.—Buffalo Bill's Wild West showed 12, and the crowd at both afternoon and evening performances was simply tremendous. Much fault was found that the management continued to sell tickets at the night performance when not alone all seats but practically all standing room was eshausted. Hundreds who paid admission were afterward unable to see much of the show.

Hundreds who paid admission were afterward unable to see much of the show.

Sandwsky.—At Cedar Point Pleasure Resort (G. A. Boeckling, manager), week of July 8, the following bill was presented: Maud Beal Frice, singer and entertainer; McPhee and Hill, triple bar act; Dempsey and Forsythe, comedians and dancers: the kinodrome, Pete Baker, dialect comedian and yodier, and Strouble's Band of Toledo. Week of 15, the Four Nelson Sisters, acrobats; Liszle N. Wilson, German dialect comedienne; Henry Frey and Nettle Fields in comedy, entitled "A Tramp's Reception," and the kinodrome.

BASEBALL PARK (Cox Struebe, manager).—The management will present to its patrons M. Elseman and company, in a comedy entitled "The Old Bachelors and the Greenhorns," during week of 14.

Dave H. Woods has resigned his Summer engagement as city editor of The Sandwaky Register, and left for Niagara Falls, where Himmelein's Imperial Stock Co., of which he is manager, will open the season 23, making a five weeks' stand at the Falls prior to the regular tour. The company this year has an excellent repertory of popular plays, and anticipates a long and prosperous season.

Columbus.—At Olentangy Park (C. A. Lacer was excellent parts and contains and contains and contains and contains and contains parts of the regular tour.

and anticipates a long and prosperous season.

Columbus.—At Olentangy Park (C. A. Lacy, manager) last week's business was the largest this resort has ever enjoyed. The bill was very good and well received. Due week of July 15: C. F. Galetti's monkey comedians, McPhee and Hill. Howard and Bland, Craig and Ardell and the kinodrome.

Minneya Park (C. A. Lacy, manager).—The Wilbur-Kerwin Co. had fair houses week of S. "Boccaccio" will be given week of 16. Grafar Southerns Roov Garden (Lee M. Boda, manager).—This resort was well patronized week of 9. Coming, 16: Ellizabeth Murray, Billy Lynke, Flora, Jordan and Weish, Bimm, Bomm, B-r-r- and Lowell and Olt.

Weish, Bimm, Bomm, B-r-r-r and Lowell and Olt. Collins' Garden (Phil Collins, manager). —This resort had fair business week of 9. Booked, 16: Tom Mack and Hyde and Cross. Burralo Bill's Wild West, 14, turned Booked, 16: Tom Mack and Hyde and Cross. Buffalo Bill's Wild West, 14, turned people away.

Dayton.—At Fairview Park (F. A. Sanderson, manager) business improved during last week owing to good weather and a first class list of performers. A team deserving especial mention is Johnny Le Fever and Miss Gay Errol, presenting "The General's Daughter." Ed. Russell continues to be a fuvorife, and Mackie and Sheridan are making good. Sander's Roof Gadden (Harry Archer, manager).—Patronage was all that the management could ask for the past week. Bill week of 16 includes: Billy Randall. Joe Howell. Ed. Russell, Minnie Randal, Gertie St. Chair, Prof. German, Howard and Hall, and Mayo and Lee.

LAKESIDE PARK (Jos. A. Kirk, manager).—A new amphitheatre has been added to this resort, and it is the intention of the management to produce vaudeville. Dubec & Roslin's trained animals is the booking for 15 and week.

Akron.—At Summit Lake Park Theatre (Menches Bros., managers) big crowda attended every performance week of July b, and the Talma Ladles' Band, of Boston, proved a big drawing card. For week of 16: Seamon and Monti, Koppe, the juggier; Smith and Yorker, Diamond and Diamond.

LAKENIDE PARK CASINO (A. M. COX, MANAger).—A good bill, headed by the La Vells, caused large audiences to attend week of D. Gailando. Paul F. Nicholson Jr., O'Brien and Herold. Fred Roberts and the Goldsmith Misters will constitute the bill for week of 16.

RANDOLPH PARK PAYILION (Wilbur Mack, manager).—"Lost in New York" and "Our Boys" will be the attraction for week of 16. The vaudeville numbers given by Messra. Mack and Lewis and Miss Isabel Fenton are pleasing features of the perfomances.

W. S. Fired, ahead of the Harris Nickie Plate Show, which comes 24, was in town 14.

Mansfield.—At Lake Park Casino (E. R. Endly, manager) last week's business was good. The bill was good and was well received, and included: Craig and Ardell, musical comedians; Le Clair and Hayes, singing and dancing due; Murphy and Mack, comedy sketch; Olvio, gymnast; Harris and Nelson, comedy acrobats, and Lillian Green, vocalist. For 16 and week: The Knight Brothers, black face comedians; Richards and Colan, singing act; Holmes and Waldron, musical team; Udell and Pearce, eccentric comedians; Shields and Wanton, comedy duo, and Denning and Bartho, German character sketch.

PAWNEE BILL'S WILD WEST gave a fair show, to good business, afternoon and evening of 12.

Toledo.—At the Casino Theatre (Frank Burt, manager) last week's business was immense. Ezra Kendall proved to be a great drawing card. The bill for July 15 and week includes: Mr. and Mrs. Perkins-Fisher, Leo Carle, Maude Beal Price, the Martelles, Kasten, Duey and Kasten, Baker and Lyan, and Beil and Albion.

FARM THEATER (Otto Klives, manager).—The patronage during the past week was good. The bill presented contained some very clever turns. The new faces for week of 15 are: Weston and Yost, Falardo, Allee Gilmore, Mme. Emery, and World and Hastings.

World of Players.

—Wm. C. Cameron writes: "The professional element at Mount Clemens, Mich, during the month of June was notable for the number and standing of the people who were taking the baths and otherwise enjoying themselves. An exodus took place after the Fourth of July, when Sam Bernard and his clever understudy, Louie Cohen, together with Youn Miner, manager of Miner's Bowery Theatre, and Sam Cooper, of the Eighth Avenue forces, went to New York. Al. Levering, manager of Annie Russeil, left for Wheeling, 'W. -Va., the same day, and the Jody Party was preceded by the control of the above Week guests at Cameron's, and they left behind Harry Lee and wite, 'Raymond Teal, wife and son, and all the regulars whose homes are here, viz.: Charite Young and wife, the Savans, Sadie Hasson, Maude Cleveland and J. — Next October, when Mrs. Sarah Cowell-Le Moyne is to make her first stellar appearance in New York at Wallack's "Eheatre, and during her engagement there in "The Greatest Thing in the World," she plans to give a series of special performances of Browning's poetic plays. The first production will be "in a Balcony," which is r fragment of an incomplete tragedy. There are three parts, all equally prominent—the queen, who will be impersonated by Mrs. Le Moyne; her prime minister, Norbert, and his sweetheart, Constance, a court lady and a cousin of the queen. Otis Skinner will play the part of Norbert, and Eleanor Robson, a clever young actress, who will be — "The King's Highway." a new romantic comedy, by William Gill, was secured by H. D. Grahame for Roland Reed, who will give the new play an elaborate production. The scenic effects are novel, and the characters to be presented by Mr. Reed and Isidore Rush were written especially for them, and give promise of success.

— Jennie Hawley, a very pretty and vivacious young comedienne, will play Carmencita Hodge with Peter F. Dailey, in "Hodge. Podge & Co."

— Lottie Williams-Salter has returned to New York after a two months' sojourn with relatives at Detroit.

— Frank McKee will make a most elaborate production of the new musical farce, adanted from the German comedy, "in Himmelhof," in which he will star Peter F. Dailey—"Hodge, Podge & Co."

— Since the announcement of the arrangement between Klaw & Erlanger and Della Fox for her appearance in "The Rogers Brothers in Central Park," next season, and to head her own company in a new play the following year, the little comedienne has received many letters of congratulation. She has a wide circle of friends and admirers, who express most sincere good wishes for her-future.

— Isabelle Evesson and Frank E. Camphave been added to the Americaa Theatre Stock Company for next season.

The Cottage which-I purchased from the Troy Gun Club last Fall has proven a good investment. It is located on the banks of the Mississippi River, about one hundred yards from Gilhead Jake, in the State of Hillinois. Fishing is very good and many strings have been landed by many professional friends who have honored me with a visit. Since my arrival I have entertained: Maude, Le Verne, the Millers, Fred Madison, the Te Son Trio, Vernon and Mason, 2nd Tresta Verey. They all confess that I have one of the coolest apots on the map. I shall remain here until the middle of July, when I will go to Chicago, where I will work in harness with Dick Ferris, completing arrangements for the coming tour of Ferris. Comedians and the Grace Hayward-Co. The two companies will be the largast and best equipped in the Western repertory field."

Dorina, of a menagerie now showing here, had a thrillieg experience with Triby, a trained bear. The woman was alone with the bears in the big iron cage in the areas at Darrow Park, putting them through the programme they were to present at the afternoon performance. Triby was sleepy and cross, and when Mile. Dorina attempted to make him mount a stoot he rebelled and showed his teeth. A smart blow with a whip made him furious, and he rushed savagely at Mile. Dorins and attempted to bite her. She thrust the butt end of the whip in his mouth, and the animal being unable to use his teeth, struck repeated blows at her with his paws. His long claws fore her clothing from her and gashed her body. Her stout boots were split from the tops to the soles and wrenched away. The woman did not fluch, but maintained her position and finally subdued the bear, compelling him to resume his usual performance and complets it. When she left the cage she fainted. Her wounds were dressed by a physician."

GRAND LODGE MEETING OF THE B. P. O. ELKS.

The fourteenth annual convention of the The fourteenth annual convention of the B. P. O. Elks convened at Atlantic City July 10, and brought together in convivial trim upwards of seven thousand of the antlered fraternity, with their families and friends, who, judging from all outward demonstration, have conscientiously voted this one of the most successful and pleasurable meetings in the history of the order. Three days—10th, 11th and 12th—were set aside for the meetings of the Grand Lodge, but many of those in attendance still linger by the sea, particularly those who hall from 1ar distant points. The sessions of the Grand Lodge were held in the Academy of Music, and were inaugurated with interesting ceremonies. After the opening invocation by Rev. Walter Davenport, of Bucknell, O., Mayor Franklin P. Stoy, of Atlantic City Lodge, presented the figurative keys of the city, together with its freedom, to the brotherhood, which were accepted in a brilliant speech by G. E. R. B. M. Ailen, of Birmingham, Ala. Addresses were made by several others, including P. G. E. R. Meade D. Detwiler, of Harrisburg, Pa., who did such acceptable work in effecting harmony between the two grand lodges when the Elks last met in Atlantic City, five years ago.

The afternoon session was devoted almost entirely to the election of the grand exalted ruler, which contest resulted in the selection of Judge Jerome B. Fisher, of Jamestown, N. Y., after three hotly contested ballots, by a majority of 12D votes over William J. O'Brien, of Baltimore, Md. Judge John H. Fort, of Camden, N. J., withdrew in favor of the successful candidate. The final vote cast was: Fisher, 338; O'Brien, 209. J. O. Reis, of San Francisco, was elected grand leading knight. During Wednesday into the following officers were selected: Grand esteemed loyal knight, W. Lloyd Bowron, New York; grand esteemed lecturing knight, William S. Brock, Lexington, Ky.; grand secretary, George A. Reynolds, Saginaw, Mich.; grand treasurer, Edward O. Orris, Meadville, Pa.; grand tyler, O. R. Marcus, Pittston, Pa.; grand trust B. P. O. Elks convened at Atlantic City July 10, and brought together in convivial trim upwards of seven thousand of the ant-strating the full regard in which the three cardinal points in the motto of the order are held.

The secretary's report which was filed proved an interesting one to all Elks. It showed the membership in the order to be 72.000 members, a growth of over 50.000 since the Grand Lodge met in Atlantic City five years ago. There have been ninety-two new lodges formed in the past year, making a total of 607. In membership Ohio stands first, with over 8,000 members; Pennsylvania, with 7,117; Michigan and New York, over 5,000; Indiana, over 4,000; lowa, over 3,000; New Jersey, nearly 2,500.

New York Lodge stands at the head with 899 members. Grand Lodge receipts were $44,742,91, the disbursements $30,700.12. In the past year. In the same period $10,928,50 has been paid the grand treasurer toward the Elks' home, and pledges to the amount of $1,812,50 have been made.

Atlantic Lodge, in whose hands rested the provisions for entertainment, most gloriously acquitted itself. From the arrival of the first lodge until the departure of the last every moment was provided for with amusements galore. Tuesday evening the visiting brothers were tendered a ball and reception on Young's Pier, which proved an event that crowded the mammoth marine structure. Wednesday evening was the night set aside brothers were tendered a ball and reception on Young's Pier, which proved an event that crowded the mammoth marine structure, Wednesday evening was the night set aside for the social session, which was held in the Blue Cavern Grotto. An excellent vocal and instrumental programme, together with many impromptu speeches, added much to the evening's enjoyment. Thuraday evening the delights of another social session were served up to all members by the Hartford Lodge at the Blue Cavern Grotto.

The parade Wednesday afternoon was one of the most notable in point of numbers and appearance that ever appeared in this resort. The number of men in line was estimated from six thousand to eight thousand, including thirteen bands, the majority of which were excellent musical organizations. The formation in detail was as follows:

Squad of mounted police, Chief Marshal Thomas F. Brogan, of Brooklyn, and Chief of Staff Samuel E. Perry, of Atlantic City; aids, Mayor Franklin P. Stoy, City Clerk E. D. Irelan, George W. Almost every lodge had a distinctive costumes, many of which displayed fine taste in artistic dressing. The appearance of the Boston contingent created more amusement than any other; They did not march, but were wheeled in individual rolling chairs, each member being pushed by a muscular negro. One of the most unique of the conveyances was a landau covered with white bunting and diractions unique of the conveyances was a landau covered with white bunting and diractions of New York, and two friends, the occupants of the carriage.

In the award of prises Hartford Lodge also Mr. and Mrs. Barney Gilmore, of New York, and two friends, the occupants of the carriage.

In the award of prizes Hartford Lodge received a handsome silk banner for having the largest number of men' in line in proportion to distance traversed. Richmond Lodge was awarded a purse of $200 for making the best appearance in Man. for kadges not having less than fifty smembers in ranks. Philadelphia Lodge-septired-the prize of a loving cup for making the second best appearance. Hartfeed Lodge, was awarded another prize/a. silk national flag, for the best marching. A clock and ornaments was the prize that went to Boston Lodge for making the most unique appearance in line. The band contest took place on Young's Ocean Pier, and excited much interest in the vast crowd that was in attendance. There were three organizations in competition: The Drake Band, of Elizabeth, N. J.; Robinson's Band, of Paterson, N. J., and the Stonewall Brigade Band, of Staunton, Va. The first prize, $250, went to Robinson's Band; the second, $150, to Drake's Band, and the third, $50, to the Stonewall Brigade Band.

NEW YORK CITY.

Review and Comment.—Another dull week has been added to the Summer quota, with scant profit to local amusement enterprises, and with a sparse crop of news items.

A refreshing fall of temperature occurred upon the first day of the week, and both upon the first day of the week, and both days and nights were comparatively cool until the close thereof. The one continued attraction, "The Rounders," at the Casino, had fair attendance, and the various vaude-ville houses had sufficient patronage to reduce the burden of their rent accounts. The roof gardens were at no time crowded, and seemed to derive the greater part of their revenue from the strangers within our seemed to derive the greater part of their revenue from the strangers within our gates. Steamboats and railway trains, run-ning to all the shore resorts, reaped a fine harvest, and amusement enterprises at these places had a prosperous week. The vaude-ville entertainments given nightly upon the steamer Grand Republic attracted large counts who not only enjoyed the performs. crowds, who not only enjoyed the performances, but had the added delight of a cool ances, but had the added delight of a cool trip upon the moonlit waters of the bay. The opera company which for a time tenanted the LENOX LYCEUM, gave up the struggle, and the house was dark throughout the past week. At Manhattan Beach Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels and Pain's fireworks reaped a good financial harvest, as did also "The Girl in Black" and other attractions at Bergen Beach. Gentry's harvest, as did also "The Girl in Black" and other attractions at Bergen Beach. Gentry's Dog and Pony Show made its first visit to the metropolis, and began an indefinite stay at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth Street and Lenox Avenue, where it drew large crowds afternoon and evening. Business at the Brighton Beach Music Hall was of a very authority and the control of the control o Brighton Beach Music Hall was of a very satisfactory sort......Throughout the entire week the air was filled with rumors of growing disaffection among the managers composing the new vaudeville syndicate, and it was reported that at a meeting of the members held in this city on July 12 there was a battle royal between the Western and Eastern managers, which resulted in a victory for the first named. No account of the proceedings was furnished for publication, but it is rumored that the Western managers successfully combatted the policy which had for its object the sweeping reducwhich had for its object the sweeping reduclar favorites. After this meeting it is said lar favorites. After this meeting it is said that harmony once more reigned.....It was-rumored late in the week that KOSTER & BIAL'S MUSIC HALL had passed into the hands of A. A. Vaudeville entertainment was furnished at Tony Paston's, Procton's, the Union Square, Proctor's Fifth Avenue, Proctor's Palace, the Atlantic Garber, the Lion Palace and the following DEN, the LION PALACE and the following roof gardens: The Casino, Koster & Bial's, the Venetian Terrace, Cherry Blossom GROVE, and the GRAND CENTRAL PALACE ...

GROVE, and the GRAND CENTRAL PALACE...

The Academy of Music, which is being remodeled and refurnished during the Summer months, will open its season on Monday, Aug. 20, with the popular young singing comedian. Andrew Mack, in a new and patriotic Irish melodrama, entitled "The Rebel." Messrs. Rich and Harris will give the play a strong cast as well as a perfect mounting, and it is figured that "The Rebel" will run well into the season.

Frank Howe and wife are spending the Summer at Atlantic City, N. J., at Mrs. Williams' cottage. Wm. L. Campbell and Rose Sydell are also there.

Charles Frohman has decided to open the next season of the Garrick Theatre carly in September, with Louis Mann and Clara Lipman in a new comedy, by Leo Ditrichatein, entitled "All on Account of Eliza."

Emil Chevrile pleased with his efforts on the violin. Furber and Davis introduced an acrobatic diversion that went by the star of the complaint of the week as the feature. Monday night found a crowd of seekers after fresh air and entertainment.

Atlantic Garden (W. Kramer's Sons, managers).—Anderson and Wallace, in "Professional Life," and a version of "Virginius;" the Del Sabos, trapeze artists: Dixon and Holmes, comedians and character impersonators; the Wilsons, colored comedy team, and Madeline Burdette, descriptive vocalist, are the attractions for this week.

Grand Central Palace Roof Garden (Lew Morris, manager).—There was a large audience on the roof evening of July 16, and the performers were, without exception, greeted cordially, and rewarded well for their efforts. Individual comment being unnecessary in this instance, where all proved so capable, we simply append the names; Genaro and Theol, Raymond and Bernard, Richard Pitrot, Carver and Pollard, the Willett and Thorne Troupe, Swift and Huber, Devene and Shurtz, Louie Dacre and Max Unger.

Gentary Doos and Ponies entered on July 16 wpon the second week of their engagement. During last week the tents were crowded to their capacity at every performance, and satisfaction with the entertainment was vigorously voiced by the spectators.

Koster & Blail's (John Koster, manager).—An audience of good size gathered together Monday night, July 16, to pass approval upon the bill presented. The entertainment was vigorously voiced by the spectators.

Koster & Blail's (John Koster, manager).—The Rohmies Russell and Russell, Tille Reamon, Frank Ronald Besnai and Miller, Eva Marsh Bessels Golden and Will Russell appear week of 16.

Utica.—The work on the new theatre Majestic is progressing finely, and will be completed by September. The report from the parks tells of good business.

Casini, Park (J. Burt Green, manager).—The Passports, dancers; Foy and Clarke, in a sketch; Fauvette Twin Risers aligned and th

LOUIS FILEER has been re-engaged by Jos. Humphrey for Chas. Frohman's Theatre for next season. This is Filber's second season with the Frohmans.

"THE CADET GIRL" is settled at last. Klaw & Brianger have taken her for A. H. Chamberlyn, and she will make her first bow at the Herald Square Theatre on July 23.

Brooklyn.—Some interesting bills are to be seen at the seaside resorts for the current week. As has been the case ever since the beginning of the Summer season big attendance rules.

Brighton Beach Music Hall, (Wm. T. Grover, manager).—A good bill is to be seen here, including two hold overs from last week's programme. They are Wormwood's trained dogs and monkeys, and the American vitagraph. The new features are Georgia Gardner and Joseph Maddern, Sadle Fox, Zeno, Carl and Zeno, and Jess Dandy. Slafter's Brooklyn Marine Band continues as the leading feature, and attracts thousands to its free concerts given on the spacious plazsa.

MANHATTAN BEACH THEATHE (Ben Stevens, manager).—Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels began their second week here July 16, before a large audience. The remainder of the Summer season here will be devoted to musical productions. The first to be presented, 23, will be "The Geisha."

BERGEN BEACH.—In the Casino (Percy G. Williams, manager) "The Girl in Black" has pased its fiftieth performance, and the attendance is still in keeping with the merits of the show. "The Bombardment of Taku" has so pleased the crowds that it will be repeated every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights until further notice.

NEW YORK STATE.

Albany.—Two stock companies continue a prosperous Summer season, and the theatregoers find much to interest them.

Hamming Bleecker Hall (H. R. Jacobs, manager) put on "Romeo and Juliet" as the week's offering, by the Mortimer Snow-Ed. J. Heron combination, and it was very creditably presented. Mortimer Snow, as Romeo, and Grace Franklin Lynch, as Juliet, were especially well cast. The audiences, both afternoon and evening, were large. 'The same stock company will give "A Celebrated Case" July 16-18, and "Men and Women" 19-21.

Fractor's Thatrie (Philip F. Nash, resident manager) was again the scene of a very enthusiastic gathering at each performance during the past week. 'The Fredk. Bond Stock Co. was particularly happy in "The Judge." a laughable comedy, in three acts, given 9, 11, in which Allisin Skipworth and Sumner Gard carried off the honors. The last half of week, 12, 14, "A Scrap of Paper" was the bill, and the strong cast. included: Adelaide Keim, Liouel Barrymore, Francis Kingdon and Gertrude Lewis. Big crowds were present at all performances during the week, and attested to the excellence of the company. This company will present, 16-18, "The Rivals," with Lionel Barrymore as Bob Acres, and 19-21 a triple bill, "Golden Flower." "A Regular Fix" and "The Open Gate." The specialty acts during the past week were by Murphy and Slater and Carol Birdsall. For the coming week Myra Campbell, violinist, and Ingram and Jacklin have been engaged.

Laogon Island.—This week's bill includes Prof. Lindsay, parachute jump; Arnold Sisters, Bancroft and White, Bessle and Will Hall, Morris and Blain, and Abe Levey, with concerts by Prof. Jarboe's Band.

Notes.—Visitors during the week have been De Wolf Hopper and Nella Bergen, on a carriage drive to Plattsburg. Also Frod Zimmerman, who is connected with the management of the Chestnut Street Theate, Ithiladelphia..... The Elks' Fair and Carlival will occur July 30, 31-Aug. 1-4, for the benefit of the hospital fund.

Buffalo.—At Shen's Garden Theatre (M. Shea, manager) there appear this week: Katharyn Osterman and Thomas Tuthor, in H. M. Lindeman's sketch, "The Editor;" Burke Brothers and the donkey, "Wise Mike:" Jennie Eddy Trio, Lew Hawkins, Hamilton Hill, Rio Brothers, the Glockers, Raymond and Clark, and the blograph. Returns of the Erne-McGovern fight will be a feature July 16. The patronage continues big.

Elmira.—The excellent attractions and warm weather are productive of packed houses at all of the Summer theatres.

RIALTO MUSIC HALL (F. N. McConnell, manager).—Roster for week of July 16: Helen Clave, Helina Negetor, Mabel Carrew, Dolline Cole and William Showers.

RORICK'S GLEN PARK (Henry E. Dixle, manager).—Those booked for the week: Carmen Sisters, the Brothers Bard, Fiske and McDonough, and the Robyns, who have been the head liners here for the past two weeks. The Four Goughs and Little Chip have closed.

QUEEN CITY GARDENS (M. L. Sullivan, manager).—Wayne and La Mar, with the Bohomes, are drawing cards, while the work of J. D. Proudlove is always entertaining. Claude Thardo and the Harrison Brothers completed there stay her 14.

84. Louis.—The strike is on again, and all the transit lines are again boycotted. However, the boycot of the parden theatres, while feeling the results of the strike, are by no means embarrassed by it. In the south side, probably the Summer theatres will be true the strike on the parden to the probably the summer theatres will be true in the strike continues, for they are in the midst of the union labor element, and dependent on them for support. The general mediator of the strike on the foreign and the strike sympathizers of stripping women and beating men for patronising the cars is dying away, rests in connection with such outrages. Last week say every Summer theatre in town open for the first time this season.

Was last week's offering, and it is being repeated this week. The attendance has been good at every performance. The piece proves very stisfactory. A last part of the week it went with a Frenchiness that bespice well for Stage Manager Seagrave's efforts. The cast, in places, is very good. Ethel Jackson, deserved it. Will Sloan, as Hans, the land-lord, does the best work in the cast, and Sam Morrie, Alexander Clark, Johnny flosy and lineliness with the cast, and Sam Morrie, Alexander Clark, Johnny flosy and Includes Lillian Cooley, Ruth White, Nine Chapman, Mona Bradbury, Hubert Wilke, S. Milwaukee.—The week just closed was an other week of cool weather, and good sized audiences ruled. The matinee performances at both houses open are often given to S. R. O. andiences.

ACADEMY (Edwin Thanhouser, manager).—The production, July 9-14, of "Michael Strogoff," by the Thanhouser Co., was elaborate and fully up to the heavy productions put on by this company during the Winter months. Eugene Moore appeared to advantage in the title role. John M. Sainpolis is another, and his work in the role of Ivan Oaroff was excellent. Edith Evelyn as Sangarre also deserves special mentioning. William Yerance, Donald Bowles, R. C. Chamberlin, Frederick Hartley, Colin Campbell, Eva Taylor and Julia Blanc made up the cast. Week of 16, "Bootle's Baby," followed week of 23 by "Christopher Jr."

Davidson Theatre (Sherman Brown, manager).—The past week saw the Salisbury Stock Co. in a very dashing performance of "What Happened to Jones." The briskness of the performance held the audiences in a continual roar of laughter. Audrev Boucleanit as Jones scored a pronounced hit. W. H. Turner, John Daly Murphy, Charles Harbury, Selene Johnson, Jane Peyton and Freda Gallick also won praise for their work. Week of 15, "The Lady of Lyons," followed week of 22 by "The Highest Bidder."

Coney Island Park (O. F. Miller, manager).—In the face of cool weather this resort is continuing to do satisfactory business, and with anything like a hot spell Mr. Miller should have his hands full taking care of the crowds. The record for attendance to date, in any one day, stands at 40,000. White Buffalo's Indian Village holds over for week of 15. People playing in the vaudeville theatre include: Brothers Van, Chapman and Perkins, Charles Christian, Georgie Lingard, and Johnson and Smith. "Fra Diavolo" ahd "Il Trovatore," 9-14, were fairly well done. Rhys Thomas, on account of throat trouble, was obliged to lay off 10, 11, and his place was taken by John Ramel.

EAST END PARK (Max Better, manager).—For week of 16: Keffer and Diamond, the Chicks, Hi yn-8 and Montgomery, Henrietta Tedro and Ship Owen. Business is good.

Chattanooga.—At the Auditorium, July 9, a farewell concert, given by Hightewer, Ailen and Clouse, assisted by local talent, proved a first rate attraction and drew a big house. The three, assisted by a small company, have started on a tour through the Southern cities.

— Lorens Jansen, Chas. H. Fulmer and Dags a and Clark have been added to "Lost in Egyp!." The cast is now complete, numbering eighteen peo-ple in all.

Vaudeville & Minstrel

Owing to the unusual demand upon our space the "Routes" are unavoidably crowded out of our present tasse. We will cheerfully give any information we have regarding traveling companies upon application at this

Harry Fideric, after spending his vacation in Indianapolis, with his wife, will leave for Chicago, July 24, to join the Richard and Pringle Georgia Minstrels.

Pringes & Dockstaber's Minstrels, under the management of J. H. Decker, inaugurated their annual tour June 9, at Manhattan Beach, N. Y., being the only attraction of its kind to appear at that famous seaside resort. The vocal corps embraces Geo. Trewellyn, Neil O'Strien, Walter Vaughan, Larry Dooley, Chas. Kent, Geo. Primrose, Harry Ellis and Lew Dockstader. The music is furnished by Prof. Carl Carlton's Band and M. J. Latham's Orchestra, and the olio engages Larry Dooley and Chas. Kent, Lew Dockstader, Geo. Primrose, and the vocal number, "The Choir Boy's Dream." introduced by Walter Vaughan.

WILL E. CULHANE, manager of Culhane, Chace & Weston's Minstrela, has called the company together for rehearsals at Plymouth, Mass., Aug., the opening taking place on Aug. 11, to inaugurate a tour of forty-two weeks. Two bands will be carried, the company numbering thirty people. The tour is booked soild, all paper finished and everything complete for the opening. The route is much the same as last season, a change in booking beling made here and there. The tour will include the entire Canadian and New England country, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and a few stands in Maryland, closing the season at Binghamton, N. Y. E. C. Jamison will again represent the company in advance.

Manager Dinkins reports progress in all branches of his productions. The scenery is completed, the wardrobe under way, the manuscripts, which are by Geo. Totten Smith and T. W. Dinkins, all finished. His newest skits are called "There's Something Doing" and "The Lady and the Lobster." He will feature "The Jersey Lilly." which will be put on by Frank David. Fletcher Rivers will also produce some of the dances. Both The Utopians and The Vagnbonds are booked soild for a season of about forty weeks each, and wi

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—This week brings with it the final production of "Hearts Are Trumps," and the closing of McVicker's; the one hundreth performance is the remarkable run of "The Dairy Farm," at the Great Northern; a few new faces in vaudeville, and the announcement of the end of the Castle Square Opera Co. Summer season. Last week the weather man affected a compromise each day save Saturday. The weather was not warm enough to render attendance at the regular houses uncomfortable—not cool enough to keep crowds away from the parks. The result was business at the theatres, which ranged from fair to excellent, and profitable business at the out of doors resorts. Hut Saturday came with weather hotter than any experienced in Chicago this year, and the wave of heat continued into this week. The week, accordingly, opens with prospects all in the favor of the Summer gardens. The closing of McVicker's leaves the field of drama in the exclusive possession of the Great Northern.

McVicker's (Jacob Litt, manager).—"Hearts Are Trumps" received its final presentation in Chicago, Sunday, July 15. The melodrama has had a splendid run, drawing large houses since May 22, except during the extremely hot weather. Last week big audiences greeted each performance. The theatre will reopen in a month.

DEARBORN (W. W. Tillotson, manager).—Lillian Coleman enters "The Burgomaster" cast this week, taking the part of Ruth Pern Melrose, a Chicago girl, has had this part heretofore. "The Burgomaster" has had excellent business.

GREAT NORTHERN (O. E. Russell, manager).—The Dairy Farm" is now upon its tenth week. By next Saturday night this production will have attained its one hundredth presentation at this house. This is indeed a remarkable run for this season of the year. In fact, the play has already broken the house records for both Summer and regular seasons. It is probable that "The Dairy Farm" will continue until this house last week. The company closes its "Sudded audiences were the rule at this house last week. The company loses its "second is presented here this week. Robert Hilliard and his company head the programme. Belle Davis and her pickaninnies, Pearl Andrews, the Juggling Johnsons, Lewis and Ryan, W. C. Fields, Cherids Simpson, John and Bertha Gleeson complete the bill. The farewell week of Camille D'Arville and Papinta was marked by big houses. Will A. McConnell will be seen here next week.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE (Kohl & Castle, managers).—Business continues good here, despite the allurements of the fresh air resorts. The bill for the week of 16 is up to the usual high standard, being headed by Bobby Gaylor, and including the Elinore Sisters, in "Dangerous Mrs. Delaney;" the Eight Carnellas, the Nichols Sisters, Mile. Rose De Haven, John A. West, Morton and Rose De Haven, John A. West, Morton and Elliott, the Asbeys, Annie Schaefer, Alabama Quartet, May Hoey, Manjonita and Eugene, Hopper and Starr, Hettle Kenton, and Davis and Dawson.

Sam T. Jack's (Sidney J. Euson, manager).—Burlesque, vaudeville and farce comedy are the attractions at this resort this week. "Froiles on the Seashore" is presented as the opening part. "Miss Kiki' concludes the performance. In the vaudeville bill are the following: the Diamond Brothers; Purcell and Maynard, Helen Russell, Mile. Ordiar and May Bell. Business holds up exceedingly well at this house.

Miaco's Trocaders (Robert Fuiton, manager).—The Gay Giris of Gotham' hold forth here this week. Farces serve as curtain raiser and finale. "An Affair of Honor' is presented in three scenes. The specialty bill includes: Phompson and Carroll, Ed. Lawrence, Casmore and Florence, and Mile. De Leon.

CLARK Street DIME MUSEUM (George Middleton, manager).—The principal attraction to the fair whistlers, oriental dancers and Philippine musicians are found in the curio hall, together with Oneaga, Mallicup, Estifano, Prof. Bowman's Punch and Judy Show. In the theatre are: Cinderella, the Cineliys, Bingham, Ritter and Chat Moran. Sans: Souci Park (Mayor Alfred Russell, manager).—Large crowds are to be found at this resort afternoon and evening. For the rest of the season, it is announced, the Chicago Marine Band will give Wagnerian concerts every Friday afternoon and night. The bill at the theatre for the week of 15 includes: Heari French, Querita Vincent. Webb and Hassan, Macart's dog and monkey show, Edwin Black and Mathew Guy.

Hopkins' Payllion, Sunnyside Park (Col. J. D. Hopkins, manager).—Papinta is the principal attraction this week. Among those to be seen at the theatre are: Fish and Quigg, Anna Kenwick, William De Boe, Elmer Jerome, Lilla Linden. Good business rules.

Duluth.—The Lyceum (E. Z. Williams, manager) was dark last week. The Boston Lyrles will play an engagement commencing Aug. 6.

Parlor Theatre (W.n. J. Wells, manager).—The business for the week was excellent. The bill week of July 16 is: Zarcli Bros., Mae Wilson, Chus. and Laura Miller, Grace Gilmore, the Trixdells, Mamle Stewart, the Gordon Sisters, Granger and Collins, and Wm. J. Wells. The farce for the week is called "Married Flirts."

THE PAYILION ON THE HILL TOP (Matt Kusell, manager).—The Valentine Stock Co. played week of 2 to good business. Week of 0, vaudeville was given and business was good. The Valentine Stock Co. will play a return engagement at an early date.

PALM GARDEN (J. W. Anderson, manager).
Business at this place, with the Chicago Ladles' Orchestra, is big. The place is full nightly.

HARPER & SMITH'S Dog and Pony Show was here 2, 3, and had good business....

Prof. Gentry's dogs and ponies will be here 16.... Buffalo Ell's Wild West comes Aug. 11.... Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' Circus was here July 9, and had packed tents afternoon and evening.

St. Paul.—At the Grand (Theodore L. Hay-, manager) the Boston Lyric Opera Co. sung to very good business week of July 8, presenting "The Idol's Eye" the first half, and "Wang" the last half of the week. Week of 15, "The Feneing Master" the first half and "Said Pasha" the last half of the week. The company includes the following cast: Josephine Stanton, Bertha Davis, Sarah Carr, Bertha Nellson, Daisy Howard, Henry Hallam, Geo. Kunkel, John Henderson, Frank Maslin, Philip Rae and Charles Van Dyne. Next week will conclude the engagement.

BREEZES.—Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' Shows had god but not big business afternoon and evening of July 7. The threatening condition of the skies and the high winds prevailing keeping many away from the tents. The performance was splendid.....The Nashville Students, of Wildwood Pavillon, White Bear Lake, 5-15, had fair attendance.... Minnesota State Band, at Lake Como week of 9, was attracting big crowds.

MICHIGAN.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit.—The announcement to the public last week that Stock's Riverside Vaudeville Theatre would close July 15 did not cause any surprise, in asmuch as the New Wonderland, with its modern ventilating system and high class attractions, had first call and was a big favorite with the public. The immediate cause of discontinuing vaudeville attractions was the inability to draw paying attendance even with the high salaried vaudeville talent selected. The weather, too, was decidedly chilly almost continuously, and this alone was enough to keep the public away. The few warninghts with big attendance were not enough to offset he many poor ones. It is Manager Bock's intention to reopen the house later on with light opera at popular prices, and with a first class company playing such old time favorites as "Pintore," "The Mikado" and "The Pirates of Penzance." Acting Manager Edmund Day introduced a playlet the past week, called "An Old Song," with Maude Pool, a Detroit girl, assisting. It made a hit. The vaudeville bill the last week was exceptionally good and was well received.

New Wondershand Theatre and Musec.—This week: The Young American Quintette, Mattie Boorum, Master George Wright, Harry Robinson, Johnnie Fox and Joh T. Powers. The staff at this new and popular temple of a musement at present.

Brothers and John T. Powers. The staff at this new and popular temple of amusement at present comprises James H. Moore, general manager; Chas. H. Williams, manager; J. E. Wiggins, treasurer; Harry M. Chappell, ticket taker, and Al. Green, orchestra leader. Business continuous phenomenal.

Grand Rapids.—At Ramona Theatre (Orin Stair, manager), week of July 15: Harry C. Stan-ley, the Six Waltons, John and Maude Allison, the Rexos. Beatrice Gambles and Cassad Bros. GODFREY'S SUMMER PAVILION (Chas. Godfrey, manager).—Week of 16: Murphy, Hall and Rieley, Dean and Jose, Sam J. Bennett, Barry and Hen-nesey and Maybell Gage.

Kalamazoo.—At the Lake View Casino (Sam Mittenthal, manager) Kennedy & Greenhill Comedy Oo. played to big business week of July 9, thor-oughly pleasing large crowds. "The Beggar Prince" Co. will be here week of 16, and Mittenthal Bros.' Comedy Co. week of 23..... Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show is due Aug. 3.

Bay City.—At Wenona Beach Park and Casino (L. W. Richardson, manager), week of July 8: Prince O'Kabe's Japanese Acrobats, Baker and Lynn, Bell and Albion, and the kinodrome. The attendance at this resort the past week has not been up to the average on account of the coorweather.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Charlotte.—At Latta Park Anditorium Peters & King's Big Stock Co., week ending July 13, played to big houses. This has been the best season in the history of the park.

— Leon Herrmann writes to The Clipper that he has combined business with pleasure during his trip to the Paris Exposition. He has completed a new lilusion, "A Vision in a Dream," which he will use during next season's tour. During a visit to his old home, Vienna, he secured all the paraphernalia used by Carl Herrmann, the chief magician of the family.

— Walter E. Perkins will begin his season in Du Souchet's farce, "The Man from Mexico," early in September, and the tour will extend as far West as Michigan and Ohio. Mr. Perkins has gone to Randolph, Mass., to confer with Mary E. Wilkins as to the forthcoming production of the dramatic version of her story, "Jerome, a Poor Man." The dramatization is nearly completed, and the production is fixed for December of the present year.

— Harry S. Bartlett and his wife, Madge Sinclair, are in town, after an absence of ten months on the road in farce comedy and vaudeville. They are doing well with their new comedy musical act. Instead of the former name, Bartlett and Sincialr, they have adopted for their team the name of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Bartlett.

Burlington.—At the Grand Opera House (Chamberlin, Harrington & Co., managers) Prof. O. R. Gleason, the trainer, put in week of July 9, to fair business.

Cedar Rapids.—At Greene's Opera House (John B. Henderson, manager) Beach & Bowers Minstrels will open a preliminary season July 27 28. Will S. Collier has been added to the opera house force, as advertising agent..... Ringling Bros.' Advertising Car, No. 1, in charge of A. G. Ringling arrived 7, from Platteville, Wis., and after billing the town for the show's appearance here, 28, left for Boone. Ed. Bluski, one of the bill posters, whose home is here, remained a couple of days to visit..... The twenty-second annual meeting of the lows State Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held here Aug. 7-10..... At a recent meeting of the directors Alex. Charles was chosen secretary of the Carnival Association, and G. K. Barton manager of the next carnival, to be held Oct. 1-6. W. L. Passmore, manager of the Empire Theatre, Quincy, Ill., arrived here July 10, to visit relatives and friends for a week or two.

Council Bluffs.—At the Dohaney Theatre (Stevenson & Kennedy, managers) the engagement of the Gillingwaler Stock to. terminated abruptly July 3, owing to the torrid weather and lack of patronage...... At Lake Manawa an immense crowd was in attendance 4, and a good slzed audience witnessed the vaudeville bill at the Casino.

TEXAS.

Houston .- The Palace Theatre (John Callaha manager) is now the only place of amusement open in the city, and, despite the heat, the house is doing a magnificent business. The people 9-15: Robert Nickolson, Faedora, Annie Smifax, Ben Welch, Hi Tom Ward, Will McIntyre, Jessie Lytelle, W. H. Wright and Joe Sassie.

ARKANSAS.

Hot Springs.—Whittington Park Summer Thetre (R. Price, manager).—As usual the large Sunday night attendance was present, and enjoyed an excellent programme. The bill week of July 8: Maurice Haynes and Kitty Monigomery, in a sketch; Roylston and Swan, in a sketch; George Yeoman, German dialect comedian, and Nichols and Croix, in a comedy sketch. Mr. Head, who was associated with Mr. Price in the management, has withdrawn. He will leave for the East in a few days on business connected with the opera House.

Music and Song.

Rudolph Aronson has gone to Europe to consult with Eduard Strauss and arrange the final details for his coming tour of the United States with his great band of fifty musical artists. The programmes for the whole of the one hundred concerts will be decided upon. Mr. Aronson takes with him over one hundred compositions by American composers. These will be heard by Herr Strauss, and a selection made of those to be performed during the tour. Mr. Aronson will also close contracts for those artists who will take the principal parts in the production of "Wiener Blut," which will be presented in New York next Fall, and after that in all the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

E. B. Reynolds, under whose generalship Jefferson De Angelis will star next season, has engaged as acting manager Frank Murray, formerly manager of the tours of Wilson Barrett and Richard Mangfield. Mr. Reynolds' star will open his season in Washington early in September, presenting a new operetta, by Charles Klein, entitled "A Royal Rogge." Mr. Reynolds will present his star and operetta at the Casino in November.

Andrew Mack has received an autograph copy of a new song, entitled "St. Patrick and the Queen." The words were written by Malcom Doherty, son of the Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. The music by the Marquis De Leuville. It will be interpreted in Andre's new play. "The Rebel," which would naturally be anti-British, being a story of the stirring days of "98," which will be seen at the Academy of Music Monday, Aug.

News of the Game.

Freedman, in a tetter to the draughts editor of The Glaspow Weekly Heraid, writes:
"I have started a match with Pomeroy and it is the hardest I have ever played. The score at present stands no wins on either side, 30 draws." We cite this simply to show how candid, and willing to give credit where due, Mr. Freedman is. He always says that he considers Pomeroy the best player in America. This is all right from Freedman's point of view, but as he has never played serious checkers with Barker. Hefiner, Freeman or Hefter, his opinion is subject to change. However, no matter what Freedman thinks, he certainly is well thought of by Americans. While we don't pretend to voice America, the fine reports from the different cities that he has visited well justifies our praise of the Scottish lad..... Freedman is on his journey westward, having been invited to Columbus, O.... The following, from The West Lothion Cowrier, is a new one: "Beating the Minister.—The following anecdote relates to Dr. McCrie, the blographer of Knox, when he was a young student of fifteen years: 'Now young McCrie, on going to Brechin, found in Mr. Gray, the minister of the anti-burgher congregation, a most expert draughts player, with whom he had not a chance. Yet he was determined to beat the minister. So having heard of a shoemaker in an obscure part of the town who was a celebrated player, he ferreted him out, and finding how much he earned by each hour of his trade, he agreed to pay him the value of the time he would spend in teaching him the secret of his skill in draughts—and this when his fees as a teacher were hardly enough to clothe and feed him. Keeping the secret to himself, he becomes master in time of the shoemaker's tacties, and sits down on a Saturday afternoon with the minister, who expected his usual triumph, and leaves the old gentleman staring in smazement and mortification at the boy who has plucked the laurels from his grey hairs and sweet him clean off the board.—Autoblography of Thomas Guthrie, D.D., and Mem

Now that the great tourney has passed into history, a resume of what is thought of the players personally by so observant a master as Herr Hoffer, is of interest in itself, and of historic value to the many players who do not see The Pield. Such

"Dr. Lasker's performance is unprecedented. This is the third greaf international tournament he has won in succession, and with no apparent effort, however, only if his games are played over. He appears to win his games with ease; there is no deep or complicated combination in any of them; the utmost simplicity prevails, and he always keeps just enough in hand to win in the end. Every one of his games is well earned; he makes his calculations with mathematical accuracy, and nothing is left to chance. He has no strokes of luck like some of the other players, and does not require them. There are only two instances, one with Schlechter, and to a lesser degree with Janowski, both of which games might have been drawn.

"Pillsbury had an air of fatigue, and his nerves are overwrought, a consequence of the tours de force he is indulging in of playing simultaneously blindfold chess, draughts and whits. He lost half a point by drawing two games with Showaiter. These are inegames on both sides, legitifiate draws, and nothing can be said about it. But he lost a game with Marshail through a miscalculation, a game with Burn by a blunder, overlooking the loss of the exchange; and by a still more grave oversight he lost is game with Lasker, having the good fortune of being let off by him in the opening. If making the fewest mistakes constitutes the greatest general, it was not Pillsbury.

"Marshail has been tucky, although we doubt whether he will admit it. Marshall its a player who must henceforth be laced in the very front rank of thing the fewest mistakes constitutes the greatest general, it was not Pillsbury.

"Marshail's score is, new theless, very remarkable self-asune with Lasker; but he is larking the light prize winners, his score and had to gain his place by hard work. He added that he lost a game with Janowski which he should have won. Therefore he received a present of at least two points; it international tourney is being organied for Moste Carlo by the veteran French master, M. Jules Arnous de Riviere, the prizes to amount to 10,000 france. The masters now in Paris, almost in a body, are said to have promised to enter the lists. That is all very good, as far as it goes, but what we want to know over here is, who of these masters have promised to come to America next year and participate in a grand international tilt? Bro. Walcott, in Boston Post, sets forth the last idea in the following merry guise: "A chess writer in The Brooklys Eagle thinks an American tournament would be a good thing, with prizes to the amount of $5,000. for instance, but declines to hold his breath till a beneficent millionaire comes along to do the honors. He mentions as possible entries, who could compete on even terms with recognized masters, Pilisbury, Marshall, Japschutz, Judd, Kemeny, Showalter, Hodges and Barry. Also some coming talent, such as Richardson, Napler, Helms, De Visser, Delmar, Johnston, Shipley, Voigt, Southard, Walcott, Hymes, Hanham. In this last job lot there are several who possess a going talent. But all the same, the scheme is a good one and deserves the support of every millionaire chess player in America."

The Championship Meet.

The races in connection with the annual meet of the L. A. W. and N. C. A., which were under the management of the latter organization, took place at Milwaukee, Wis. July 13, 14, but prayed a failure, chiefly owing to the fact that the track jaid at Exposition Building was stated to be unsafe, in consequence of which Cooper, Kramer, Taylor, Stevens and McFarland, of the professional riders, and Van Cott and Denny, amateurs, refused to ride and left the city 12. The knowledge of this fact served to limit the attendance to probably two thousand persons each evening. The advertised match race between Cooper and Taylor was declared off. The riders who took part in the events decided furnished good sport, however, the contests being generally close and satisfactory in character, and, considering the alleged unsafe condition of the track, spills and accidents were few in number, and none of a serious nature. Another Victory for the "Major,"

The special feature of 4 programme that drew several thousand persons of both sexeto the popular track at Valisburg, near Newark, N. J., on the Fourth of July, was a heat race, one mile, best two in three, between "Major" Taylor and Jay Eaton, which the colored phenomenon captured in straight heats, ridden in good time. A deal of interest was taken in this event, which proved satisfactory, while the other events included in the programme helped to agreeably entertain the crowd. Summary:

any team will seriously handicap its chances of success, and both Philadelphia and New York were in that state.

The Quakers have had more than their share of that kind of hard luck stories to tell. Captain Delehanty, Lajoie, Wolverton, Thomas and Orth have been on the sick list at one time or another, while the team was on its second Western trip. Different causes were given as to what brought about their illness: probably it was in reality a change of drinking water with all except Lajoie, and he was laid up with a badly damaged thumb. Some unpleasant things were circulated about Captain Delehanty not keeping in condition, or living up to the temperance clause of his contract, but Manager Shettelline indignatily denies the reports, and says: "I was with Captain Delehanty when the Cincinnatt doctor prescribed for him. It hurts 'Del' more than anybody, because he is unable to play. Still he is human fike the reset of us, and illness does not play any favorites. We have had more than our share of hard luck, when our team is intact again you will see a pace that will be hot enough for any of them. Don't think for a minute that we are out of the race. Four of our men were on the sick list, and Lajoie's thumb was split in the game of July b, at Cincinnati."

New Yorkers are not exactly chipper over the showing the New Yorker have been mate.

Che Ring.

A crowd that jammed spacious Madison Square Carden on Monday evening, July 16, witnessed one of the fastest and most exciting glove contest that has ever taken place anywhere. The principals were Frank Erne, lightweight champion, and Terry McGovern, a featherweight as things go nowadays, and in view of the difference in weight the conditions of the match stipulated that in the event of Erne not knocking his opponent out, or stopping him, in ten rounds, McGovern would be declared the winner, the weight limit to be 128th, which is five pounds below the regular maximum lightweight figure. In getting down to this weight it is reasonable to suppose that Erne weakened himself considerably, and upon this fact the friends of Terry based their hopes of his victory, knowing that their man would be good and strong, and that he would surely give them a great "run for their money." McGovern was fully aware of the advantage he possessed, and, acting upon this knowledge, he, in his usual style, went after his man viciously from the moment of their facing; giving him no rest, following him about the ring, breaking through Erne's guard. or delivering swings with right and left so rapidly and without cessation during the progress of each round that the chmplon's admirable defence, under ordinary circumstances, proved of no avail against the onslaught. Terry was floored in the opening round, as a result of allowing himself to be cornered, and catching a straight 'un on the jaw, but after taking a full count rose as fresh as ever and resumed fighting with the utmost vigor. Erne altered his tacties somewhat after the opening round, but this availed him not, for Mac fought faster, if possible, than ever, pouring in völleys of blows without an interval, the extraordinary quick firing be wildering Frank, quickly undermining his strength, and in the second round putting him all at sea. Seeing the condition of Erne, who was unsteady on his feet and uncertain in his movements, Terry, as they faced for the third roind, set about him with

JOR CAIN AND GEORGE JANNEN came together for twenty rounds at the opening professional entertainment of the Casino Sporting Club, of Brooklyn, at the Unique Theatre, night of July 7, the latter being knocked out in the sixth round of the twenty for which they were matched.

HUGH MCFADDEN AND FRANKIE WALSH Were principals in the leading bout before the Pelican Club, Brooklyn, on the night of July 7, the fight being interesting while it progressed, and coming to an end in the fourteenth round, in which Walsh claimed to have broken his wrist, and declined to-continue, McFadden accordingly receiving the decision.

Frank King, of Newburg, N. Y., and George Moran, of Fall River, Mass., opposed each other in a twenty round glove cominat at the Urange Athletic Club's Pavilion, at the former place, July 2, the fighting being sharp throughout and the result being a draw.

Towny Sullivan settled the pretansions of Lou Myers in the opening round of what was scheduled to be a twenty round bout, at 122th, at the areas of the Sampson Club, Brooklyn, July 8, the latter being twice knocked down and then counted out.

"KID" Carter obtained the verdict in the thirteenth round of a bout scheduled for twenty-five, before the Hercules Athletic Club, night of July 9, he being a much better boxer than his opponent, Johnny Reichmann, who was knocked out.

BILLY FITZGERALD defeated Marty McCue in a twenty round bout at the Greenwood Athletic Club, Brooklyn, bight of July 7.

Sam Price and Dan Duane furnished the Club, Brooklyn, hight of July 7.

SAM PRICE AND DAN DUANE furnished the sport in the principal bout at the tourney of the Carlisle Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, held in Schiellen's Hall, hight of July 10.

They were scheduled to box twenty rounds, but in the third Price received a finisher in the shape of a heavy punch on the mark, Juane receiving the verdict.

Jos Gans added another quick victory to his string when he met a lad named "Whitey" Lester, in a twenty round bout, before the Eureka Athletic Club, of Baltimore, night of July 12, the latter being settled in the fourth round.

JOE WILLIAMS AND JIM EXALL fought with gloves for $375 and the 98th championship, at Newcastle, Eng., on the evening of June 27, the former winning in thirteen rounds. The loser is a brother of the well known Charley Exall.

Charley Exail.

Bos FITZSIMMONS has a couple of matches of interest now on hand, he having on July 11 taken on Gus Ruhlin and Tom Sharkey. The contest with Ruhlin is fixed to take place Aug. 10, and that with Sharkey between Aug. 25 and 30, win or lose with Ruhlin. Both matches are to be decided before the club offering the best inducements.

WORD TO SINGERS,"

These songs ARE BEING SUNG (not on paper), and they are new. You would not sing a song that didn't make good, would you? You might be paid for singing a song, but if it did not go with your audience would you keep it on? Could you be hired to keep it on if it were a frost? Of course not. Would Mr. Hodgson, of Keith's; Messrs. Pynes or Butler, of Proctor's, Mr. Tony Pastor, Hyde & Behman, J. J. Murdock, Geo. Castle, John D. Hopkins, Mike Shea, Percy Williams, or any of the prominent vaudeville managers want your act if you sang a lot of stuff that didn't make good? Not on your life. Take care of your own interests, singers, by giving the people what they want. Prof. copies are ready now, and will be sent to all professionals sending postage for same. Programme must positively accompany letters, or same will be ignered. All the above songs are published by

DRY, SHAW BROS. & MACK'S BIG IMPERIAL MINSTRELS

Yes, it's pretty warm, thank you. What is? Why, Madison's Budget No. 6, the greatest bunch of real parodies, sketches, monologues, sidewalk conversations and miscellaneous Hebrew, Irish and Black Face wit ever offered to the profession at any price. Costs one dollar, but is worth affly to any comic entertainer. So remember Mudison's Budget No. 6, the pioneer wandeville publication, endorsed by America's and England's ablest performers, and backed up by James Madison's gilt edged guarantee. "Your Monkey BACK IF YOU WANT IT, IN A DAY, A MONTH OR A YEAR." Send all orders to JAMES MADISON, 134 Kast 79th St., New York City.
